British House of Commons Forces Debate to Know Position of Naval Conference

MR. MACDONALD HAS TO MAKE PROMISE

Italian Delegates Still Firm and Little Possibility Now of Five-Power Pact

(Associated Press)

LONDON, April 7.—Disatisfaction in scattered sections of the House of Commons over the trend of Anglo-French security discussions in connection with the naval conference, tonight resulted in a move to debate the whole question openly. Prime Minister MacDonald was able to check it only by taking the floor himself and pledging full information to party leaders any time they sought it.

It was the first attempt of the British Parliament to question Mr. MacDonald's free hand in the disarmament negotiations. Other conference activities took a back seat as Rt. Hon. Godfrey Locker-Lampson, Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in the last Baldwin Government, forced the issue.

CENSURE ON GOVERNMENT

The motion, if it had been voted on and had resulted in the Government's defeat, would have constituted a vote of censure and called for Mr. MacDonald's resignation. Mr. Locker-Lampson offered the motion because he was dissatisfied with the Government's policy concerning interpretation of Article 16 of the League of Nations Covenant, but withdrew it after the Prime Minister's intervention.

Tomorrow is expected to be the most critical of all the critical days of the London Conference as far as a five-power treaty is concerned. The Anglo-French negotiations undoubtedly will come to a head and it was reported in London tonight that Mr. MacDonald was in agreement with the French Government's approval of a security formula which interprets Article 16 to the satisfaction of the French without increasing Great Britain's risk of war in Europe.

Make Ready to Start Building Nanaimo Church

NANAIMO, April 7.—Excavation has commenced on Franklin Street for the foundation of a church estimated to cost $10,000 for continuing Presbyterians. The site was given by St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church after Church Union. The contract has not yet been awarded, but it is expected that day labor will be started immediately to give employment to men in the congregation out of work.

EX-PENSIONER WIDOW STATE IS DEBATED

Committee of House Hears Pleas for Ameliorating Distress Among Such Women

SUGGESTIONS MADE FOR NEEDED ACTION

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, April 7.—The situation of the widows of ex-soldier pensioners was considered by the special parliamentary committee on returned soldiers' problems this afternoon, and a number of suggestions aimed at alleviating distress among these women were advanced by Lieutenant-Colonel L. R. Lafleche, D.S.O., and Mr. Richard Myers, of Toronto. The latter represented the Amputations Associations.

In advocating that a soldier's pension be continued by his widow on the death of the pensioner, Colonel Lafleche argued that, since the law had for twelve years banned such a procedure and since in that time many soldiers had married, it was proper to assume that these women had not married in expectation of pensions.

Colonel Lafleche's views

Colonel Lafleche recommended that Section 32, Subsection (1) of the Pension Act be repealed and the following substituted: "That no pension shall be paid to the widow of a pensioner unless she was living with him or was maintained by him or was, in the opinion of the commission, entitled to be maintained by him at the time of his death and for a reasonable time previously thereto."

"No pension shall be paid to the widow of a member of the forces unless she was married to him before the appearance of the injury."

Customs Office To Be Opened in Taku River Area

VANCOUVER, April 7.—Mr. T. H. Haney, a former employee of the Canadian Customs Department, with considerable experience in the North, has been appointed to open a customs office at or near the border entrance to the Taku River mining area, it is reported from Ottawa. He will be on the ground for the opening of navigation about May 1, and will be under the jurisdiction of the Prince Rupert customs office. He is at present in Vancouver.

Without Five-Power Pact Great Monetary Savings May Result From Parley

By EDWARD PRICE BELL.

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

LONDON, April 7.—Vast benefits from the Five-Power Naval Conference seem assured. One of these scarcely can be a five-power treaty—though finally in even this particular awaits registration—but such treaty never has been necessary to the splendidly successful issue of the negotiations. The big thing from the first, practically speaking, was a three-power treaty. That would embrace the three chief naval powers, would set a fine example before the world, would be a powerful restraint upon naval competition, and would divert huge sums of money from nonconstructive to constructive purposes.

TREATY IN BEING

It is impossible to believe that a three-power treaty will fail, though finally here again awaits registration. A three-power treaty, indeed, is said to be in being. Doubtless it is. But anyone who has mugged the quicksands of this conference will cry "solid ground" only when he has his feet firmly upon it. At the moment, the British and French statesmen continue their very exhilarating exercise of trying to turn the political grindstone both

INSTITUTION IS VISITED BY GOVERNOR

Lord Willingdon Sees the Solarium and Praises Work Done by the Management

WILL LAY WREATH ON CENOTAPH TODAY

Will Pay Visit to Theatre in Evening to See McLeod English Players at the Royal

(Canadian Press)

His Excellency the Governor-General visited the Queen Alexandra Solarium shortly before 4 o'clock Sunday evening, and spent half an hour or so visiting the various wards and chatting with the little patients. He was met on arrival by the medical superintendent, Dr. C. Wace, and the lady superintendent, Miss Stone, who escorted him through the institution, pointing out some of the changes and additions made since his previous visit during the first year of the Solarium's existence. He expressed himself as delighted with the progress which had been made in respect of treatment facilities, and congratulated both Dr. Wace and Miss Stone on the improvements which had been effected.

Some amusing incidents occurred. A small patient, who had been admitted to the Solarium only the previous day, quite without embarrassment, informed Lord Willingdon that she had met him before. His Excellency asked where.

"You were on the boat that I was on with my mother, and I winked at you!" the little miss replied.

In the babies' ward the children set up a cry of pleasure when the Governor-General appeared, calling him the "Soldier Man." In anticipation of his visit, they had been shown some pictures of His Excellency, and some of the children were frankly disappointed that he was not wearing the same clothes. The smallest patient, a sixteen-month-old baby, clung to the Governor-General's finger in a way which implied complete captivation. Very few of the little cripples showed shyness, and some of the small boys sitting up in bed saluted as the distinguished visitor approached. Those who were able to use their crutches or a stick hobbled to the door and sent up three hearty cheers for His Excellency, who was again cheered by the entire staff as he left the institution.

Wild Talk of Laborite on Ex-Minister

(Canadian Press Cable)

STRAITFORD, Eng., April 7.—The chequered political career of Right Hon. Winston Churchill, whose last cabinet position was Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Baldwin Government, called forth some comment from a member of the present Labor administration here on Saturday night which political observers are pondering.

"I am certain that if Mr. Churchill lives until the next election he will not be able to keep away from the Labor party," declared Hon. George Lansbury, Commissioner for Public Works, in the course of a speech here. "Mr. Churchill is ever out of the Government for long."

Mr. Churchill has been a member of Liberal coalition and Conservative administration, but so far his closest connection with the Labor movement has been his work as amateur bricklayer.

Exciting Scene in Streets Is Witnessed as Police Take Two Men in Trap

(Canadian Press Cable)

TORONTO, Ont., April 7.—With a crashing of automobiles and blaring revolvers, detectives this afternoon foiled what is believed to have been an attempt to hold up a branch of the Royal Bank here today and arrested two men, one of whom had a penitentiary record.

Acting on information that an attempt would be made to rob the bank on Wellesley Street detectives, in a police car, made their way to the scene. Suddenly a car, driven by Albert E. Dorland, accompanied by a man named Gordon, emerged from a lane on their way to the bank. The men then spotted the police car. Instantly Dorland drove his car with increasing speed into the police car and plunged into its side.

The detectives, perceiving rifles in the onrushing car, immediately opened fire with their revolvers. Dorland fell out of his car into the street, apparently badly wounded, while his companions instantly surrendered. Afterwards it proved that Dorland's temple was merely scored by a bullet.

According to police, Dorland later admitted he was going to attempt to hold up the bank. He is being held on a charge of conspiracy to rob a bank.

Plans Made for Consecration of Bishop Murray

(Canadian Press Cable)

MONTREAL, Que., April 7.—Arrangements are completed for the consecration of the Rt. Rev. Gerald C. Murray, Bishop-elect of Victoria, B.C., on May 7. The consecration ceremony will be held at St. Ann's Church, Montreal, and will be presided over by Most Rev. Andrea Casulo, Apostolic Delegate to Canada. Other consecrating prelates will be the Archbishop of Vancouver, B.C., and Bishop Deschamps, of Montreal. The sermon will be delivered by Most Rev. Neil McNeil, Archbishop of Toronto.

Following the ceremony, members of the hierarchy and clergy will be guests of the newly consecrated Bishop at a dinner to be served at the Windsor Hotel.

In the evening, at 7:45, a special service will be held at St. Patrick's Church, where, it is expected, many visiting bishops and clergy will be in attendance.

An address will be delivered by Bishop Murray, and service will close with the Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Re-election of Montreal Mayor Is Now Certain

(Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, April 7.—At 8:30 o'clock tonight the re-election of Mayor Camille Houde was conceded at that time, with nearly three-quarters of the returns counted. Mayor Houde had more than doubled the vote of his opponent, Alderman J. A. Matheson. Mayor Houde also had four followers among the seven aldermen elected at that time.

IMMIGRATION CONFERENCE TO BE HELD

Acting Minister Announces Government Will Call Parley to Talk Over Situation

UNEMPLOYMENT WILL PLAY SERIOUS PART

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, April 7.—A Dominion-provincial conference on immigration, to be held next June, was announced in the House of Commons today. The announcement of the conference came from Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Minister of Immigration. Mr. Stewart was speaking in continued debate on the Heaps amendment, which calls for Government action to relieve unemployment, and the acting minister seized the opportunity to give the House an idea of steps which the Government is taking.

WINTER UNEMPLOYMENT

Discussion of the winter unemployment problem at this conference was suggested by Mr. Stewart. Immigration, he said, had been mentioned as one of the causes of unemployment. Why should it not be discussed?

"It might be well to bring together the presidents of the two railway companies and other large employers of labor who are interested in this question, as we are interested, and are desirous of alleviating what is a more or less serious situation," said the minister. He did not admit that the responsibility rested with the Federal Government, but the desire of the Government was to help solve the problem. Labor organizations, the minister added, would also be represented.

There was no serious unemployment in the Summer months, Mr. Stewart contended, and a conference such as he suggested might make provision for winter construction on a scale sufficient to take care of much of the seasonal unemployment, even if compulsory measures were adopted to insure winter building.

WHAT PROVINCES WANT

"We have been endeavoring," said Mr. Stewart, "to make an arrangement for winter building."

University Professor Is Opposed to Compulsion as Proposed by Farmer Group

(Canadian Press Cable)

TORONTO, April 7.—"The Canadian people have confidence in the Wheat Pool, and the present condition of the market clearly reflects the success of the Pool," says Professor C. R. Fay, of the Economics Department of Toronto University. Professor Fay has just completed a survey of the Western grain situation and will shortly proceed to England to examine the status of the Canadian Wheat Pool there.

OPPOSED COMPULSION

"After my investigations I am a strong supporter of the Pool as it has functioned hitherto as a voluntary organization," he said. "There has been an attempt made in Saskatchewan to make it compulsory for farmers to sell their wheat through the Pool. I am strenuously opposed to that."

"The fact that export trade was improving was another indication of improvement in the wheat situation," said Professor Fay. "Compulsion would be a retrograde step."

Britain Plans an Air-Linked Empire

THE British dirigible R-100 will fly over the Atlantic Ocean early in May to Montreal, marking the first step toward the dream of an air-linked Empire. At approximately the same time the Graf Zeppelin will start on its sixth transatlantic trip, and on this occasion the German airship will fly to South America. Major G. H. Scott, above, will pilot the R-100 to Canada on its first oceanic crossing and Dr. Hugo von Eckener will again take command of the Graf Zeppelin.

Lady Willingdon Delighted With Thrilling Canoe Run Down Far-Famed Cowichan

THE thrill of shooting the rapids of Cowichan River, one of the most adventurous trips that Vancouver Island has to offer, was enjoyed by Lady Willingdon yesterday. Her Excellency enjoyed the experience immensely, and when the party reached Duncan at 3 o'clock after the eight-hour voyage, expressed the hope that some day she might be privileged to do it again.

The Governor-General and Lady Willingdon and their suite left Victoria on Sunday afternoon on their Up-Island tour. Lady Willingdon went direct to the Riverside Inn, Cowichan Lake, accompanied by Captain Streetfield, Captain C. V. R. Blundell and Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn. His Excellency stopped at Shawanigan Lake to visit Captain Lonsdale's and Miss Gilder's schools, subsequently, on his way back to Victoria, calling at the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

LEADING INDUSTRY CRIPPLED SERIOUSLY

(Colonist Correspondent)
BRADFORD, England, April 7.—Notices of wage reductions in the woolen industry have been posted at the mills in this town, following the report of the Royal Commission of Inquiry, which recommended wage reductions as a necessary step in the present depressed state of the industry.

Meanwhile, the workers' unions have sent the employers a "definite and concrete proposal of settlement," which, reportedly speaking, suggests the reductions should be cut in half.

In the trade union world as a whole, there is deep anxiety over the prospect of a closing down in the industry.

Soviets Will Stop Ridiculing Church

(Moscow Press Cable)

MOSCOW, April 7.—Leaders of the Society of Militant Atheists have decided that their antireligious activities during the approaching Easter holidays would be centered largely on helping to fulfill the Government's five-year industrialization plan, collective farm scheme, and the fight against the "old religion," instead of ridiculing priests and the church as heretofore.

Mahatma Surprised No Action Is Taken Against Him and Threatens New Methods

(Bombay Press Cable)

BOMBAY, April 7.—Three of Mahatma Gandhi's chief lieutenants in his civil disobedience campaign against the Indian Government, and many local leaders and volunteers in different Indian districts, were under arrest tonight as the aftermath of the Mahatma's overt violation of the salt monopoly on Dandi Beach on Sunday.

The Nationalist leader remained at liberty and in spite of a scuffle that took place between his followers and police near Dandi today, announced he would come in person tomorrow to collect salt with the volunteers.

RUMORS OF ARREST

Rumors in Bombay gave the impression that Gandhi's arrest was imminent and that he might be taken into custody when he goes to sea tomorrow.

Several minor encounters occurred at widely scattered points between Gandhi followers and the police, but there were no disorders on a large scale. The only situation that threatened serious trouble was between police and workmen in the Mysore gold mines near Angalga, 250 miles from Dandi, which was not directly connected with the civil disobedience campaign.

There were fifty casualties in the clash, the workers, who numbered 8,000, stone-throwing, and were fired upon by the police. A squadron of Mysore Lancers and police reinforcements were dispatched to the mines, which are in Southern India.

THE FIRST SENTENCE

The first judicial sentence of any severity that has been passed on violators of the salt monopoly was meted out today at Madras, one town where Gandhi stopped on his march from Ahmedabad to Dandi. A magistrate there imposed terms of two years' imprisonment and fines of 500 rupees (about $100) on other classes, which is only natural

 The amount of butter that Aus-small as to have little effect on our tirely different matter, and the present condition should be viewed by every good citizen with alarm, certainly by every business man.

 lantic and the Pacific, and effecting economies on the battleship score running into hundreds of millions.
 America by alone would save 100-800 cheques in the next six years $400,000,000, while the aggregate savings of Great Britain, Japan and America should fall a little short of $2,000,000,000.
SAVINGS LIKELY GREAT Staggering figures will emerge from any competent statistical inquiry showing monetary savings due to initiative taken toward naval reduction in the last eight years.
 Those savings began with the vigorous and epochal work at the Washington Conference, where battleship tonnage was destroyed in a way to make any naval battle in history look like child's play. General forward with the good work, taking its place in writing and speech as a "failure" but transating the cruiser reduction movement which has made American parity with Great Britain $400,000-800 cheaper than it otherwise would have been. And now comes the with its promise of savings on battleships mounting in the next twelve years to unimaginable sums—enough perhaps to wipe out the whole of the worst slums of the world.
MORAL GAINS
 These are material gains reasonably unobtainable as a rule. But they are only the tangible expression of corresponding moral gains.
 Nothing but amazingly improved sentimental relations among the principal naval powers could have made these retrenchments possible.
 Nor need anyone despair over the Franco-Italian relations. Unusually factory as they are—deep as is the division—statements who really want peace can put them right. London has turned the floodlight on this Mediterranean quarrel. France and butter substitutes, the increase alone in the sale of substitutes for the month of December, 1929, as compared with 1928 being in excess of thirty million pounds.

 "Class legislation is not conductive to the contented prosperity to which we aspire, and tariff should be principally devoted to the protection of manufacturers alone.
 Certainly the consumers must be seriously considered as Canadians are the largest per capita consumers of butter in the world, but food is not all of the necessities of modern life.

GROWERS OF KEATING ARE QUICK TO ACT

Acres Already Allotted for Vegetables to Be Handled in the Cold Storage Plant

GOOD MARKET ON PRAIRIE ASSURED

Quick action was taken following the meeting at Keating on Friday night last, when Mr. H. G. Brown, manager of the Victoria Cold Storage & Terminal Warehouse, Limited, addressed the members of the Keating Co-operative Fruit Exchange on the benefits of modern freezing methods in the treatment of fresh fruit and vegetables. The committee appointed by President A. E. Cole immediately added to its number and canvassed the members in the hall, with the result that on Saturday morning several growers, headed by Mr. W. H. Brown, waited on the manager of the cold storage plant and informed him that a certain amount of acreage had been allotted as was suggested, a number of growers to plant peas, beans and corn.

Interviewed last night, Mr. H. G. Brown said he was highly gratified at the quick response, and stated that the acreage promised should yield between ten and twenty carloads from the Keating district alone, which would be a splendid start; and, as he had no doubt about these vegetables obtaining a good market on the Prairies next winter, following the demonstrations which he promises to make there at the expense of the plant, he looks for a big increase in the acreage devoted to vegetable growing for the off-season months when the farmers plan their seedling programme next spring.

Mr. Brown stated that arrangements were being made for him to address the growers of the Gordon Head district in the near future; and that he had been invited to address farmers of Courtenay and vicinity, and was going there shortly. On his present information, as he is now receiving limited quantities of certain commodities from the Up-Island district for freezing, he expects to handle several carloads of farm produce from there, principally corn, for which that section is noted, during the coming summer and fall.

He hoped, he concluded, to be able to show the farmers of Vancouver Island the advantages of modern refrigerating practice, which gave them the opportunity of being able to market fresh produce twelve months in the year; and, as the capacity of the plant was 200 carloads, there would be ample room for those who wished to utilize its advantages for some time to come.

CITY TO AID IN CLEAN-UP WEEK

FACILITIES FOR DISPOSAL OF RUBBISH AND DEBRIS ARE TO BE PROVIDED

Flat Scow to Be Furnished for Getting Rid of More Bulky Material

Civic assistance to be given householders during Clean-Up Week was announced yesterday at the City Hall by Superintendent G. W. Allison as follows: Clean-Up Week this year will be from Easter Monday, April 21, to Saturday noon, April 26. The garbage department will shut down for the holiday all day Good Friday and Saturday. The city will be wide open from 7 a.m. Easter Monday onward. The department will be prepared to take care of all calls for the removal of extra rubbish which may have accumulated since last clean-up week. Rubbish must be put together and placed easy of access, in order to facilitate removal. Brush and other garden debris will not be moved by the department, but such material may be sent down to the burners and garbage scows, where facilities will be provided for the disposal of same free of charge. The fire department will be on duty to issue fire permits on application. A flat scow will also be provided for all and sundry for disposal of the more bulky material, such as old auto bodies and frames. Auto bodies must have all the woodwork and other burnable material moved before being deposited on the scow. This scow is also provided free of charge.

Residents desiring any of these services are asked to telephone 1614 from now on. Attention will be given to calls as nearly as possible in the order received.

STUDENTS OF B.C. GAIN MORE HONORS

University Students Take Fellowships in Mathematics Offered by Chicago University

VANCOUVER, April 7.—British Columbia students won more high honors today when it was announced that Mr. Ralph Hull and Mr. Ralph D. James, both of Vancouver, and both studying for their master of arts degree at the University of British Columbia, have won two mathematical scholarships, each valued at $1,000, offered by the University of Chicago.

This is the first award of the special scholarships offered by this university to Canadian students who plan to specialize in mathematics. The scholarships are for the year 1930-31.

Both Mr. Hull and Mr. James will take their master of arts degree this spring. The former distinguished himself by winning the Governor-General's gold medal as head of the graduating class at the U.B.C. in 1929.

Mr. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. James. He led all Point Grey students in the matriculation examinations in 1924 and had an excellent record at U.B.C. since.

APARTMENT FOR LEE AVE. IS PROPOSED

Mr. J. Moxam to Build From Designs of Mr. Percy Fox Near Hospital Property

COST TO BE ABOUT $15,000

An apartment house for Mrs. Appleton is to be built by Mr. J. Moxam, who has constructed a number of apartment blocks here, at the northwest corner of Fort Street and Lee Avenue, close to the Jubilee Hospital property boundary.

Mr. Moxam, who has just completed an apartment block at the corner of Cook Street and Pulteney Boulevard, has now a similar building under construction on Fairfield Road, near Cook Street, on the old Bank estate. The building on Fort Street, which Mr. Percy Fox will design, will be of stucco and half timber front, to house four suites, and will represent a cost of about $15,000. In connection with the rebuilding of the Oak Bay Garage, which was referred to Sunday, Mr. Percy Fox has announced that the building, which will be of concrete, will occupy the whole area of the lots, and for that purpose the house at the rear of the present garage will be removed, as well as the present garage building.

ELECTION LIKELY IN FIVE MONTHS

Liberal Member Propheesies Federal Fight Will Take Place Before September 3

TORONTO, April 7.—A special dispatch to The Mail and Empire from Brampton today says: "A Federal election within the next five months was forecast here by Mr. Mitchell Hepburn, Liberal member for Elgin West, at a Liberal nomination convention held on Saturday.

"If I were to prophesy, I would say the election would be held before September 3," he said, adding that he was confident of some 500 applauding delegates.

"Additional significance was lent to Mr. Hepburn's prediction by the fact that Ontario Liberals held a caucus on Friday, at which the election situation is said to have been discussed and that earlier in the week the general outlook was threshed out before a general caucus.

Mr. Ross Gray, member for East Lambton, also referring to the possibility of an early election, declared emphatically that the King Government was not waiting for an issue but was ready to come to the people at any time on the strength of its past record.

Prime Minister Was Bit Warm Is Opinion of M.P.

BRAMPTON, Ont., April 7.—The statement of Premier Mackenzie King in the House of Commons last week that "he would not give a five-cent piece to any Tory Government," was likely due to his being "a bit warm," said Mr. Mitchell Hepburn, Liberal member for West Elgin, addressing the Peel County Liberal Association meeting here on Saturday.

Frequent interruptions on the part of Conservative members, lodged purely as propaganda to confuse the Government, appeared to have been the cause of the Premier's sudden burst of anger, the speaker said.

"If I had been in his position I think I might have said a lot worse," stated Mr. Hepburn.

Seeks Extension Of Time Allowed Naturalization

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, Ont., April 7.—Extension of the time in which a foreigner may be naturalized from five to ten years has been sought by Premier G. H. Ferguson from the Dominion Government. The request is the result of reports of extensive distribution of Bolshevik reading matter and especially so in the schools of Northern Ontario.

"Distributors of 'red' pamphlets and literature have long been a source of annoyance to the Department of Justice," said the Premier. He pointed out that a foreigner might be a naturalized Canadian after five years residence in the country and after that he could not be deported. The Premier now wants this period extended. "I wrote Premier King about the matter and he promised to deal with the whole thing," said the Premier.

RIVALS AGREE TO ADJUSTMENT

BOLIVIA AND PARAGUAY ACCEPT URUGUAY'S OFFER TO ADJUST BOUNDARY

For Which Were Centre of the Trouble in 1928 to Be Exchanged

By JOHN W. WHITE (Copyright, 1929, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 7.—Editorials in leading South American newspapers show that a feeling of relief and general satisfaction has been aroused throughout the continent by the signing of a modus operandi pact between Bolivia and Paraguay, giving the Uruguayan Government a free hand to engineer the exchange of Port Vanguardia and Port Boqueron in the Gran Chaco as it believes best.

General repudiation among the South American republics of force as an instrument for settling international differences is so strong that there was a general feeling of indignation against both Bolivia and Paraguay so long as they allowed their territorial dispute to threaten the peace of the continent.

Both governmental circles and public opinion in virtually all the South American capitals have approved the attitude of the conference of neutrals in adhering to its decision made in Washington last September. This body refused to investigate the causes or fix the blame for the skirmish in December, 1928, which caused the present trouble, agreeing that the most important point was to get the two republics to renew diplomatic relations, and endeavor to find a solution for the fundamental problem—namely, satisfactory division of the vast waste known as the Gran Chaco, which, like the Provinces of Tacna and Arica, once disputed by Peru and Chile, is not worth anything where near what a war for their possession would cost.

Fixing of May 1 as the date for renewal of diplomatic relations between Asuncion and La Paz leads to the hope in leading South American capitals that direct negotiations for the definite settlement of this territorial quarrel will get under way soon, since this still remains the chief threatening of all South American frontier disputes.

Several South American republics are known to be ready to lend their friendly offices whenever Bolivia and Paraguay find it impossible to reach a satisfactory settlement by direct negotiations.

ANOTHER WALLIS CHARGE IN COURT

Conspiracy to Defraud Alleged Against Herald Gray—Preliminary Hearing, Friday

Charges of conspiracy to defraud laid in one case against Stanley E. Wallis and Harold Gray, jointly, and in another case against Stanley E. Wallis and W. N. Tompkins, jointly, are to be given preliminary hearing in the city police court on Friday before Magistrate George Jay. The charge against Wallis and Gray was presented yesterday and the accused were remanded until April 11, at the request of Mr. R. D. Harvey, who appeared for them.

The present charge is that a conditional sale agreement was signed by Gray as purchaser of a car and by Wallis for the Consolidated Motors (Victoria) as vendor, and that Rihet Consolidated, Limited, were induced to discount it for the sum of $1,601.40, when there was no genuine sale and purchase.

ROYAL SOCIETY OF ST. GEORGE WILL OBSERVE APRIL 23

The Royal Society of St. George will observe St. George's Day, as in former years, by holding a banquet on that day, April 23. A special committee to arrange a programme of speakers and artists has been named.

Due to the patriotic efforts of the late Howard Ruff, founder of the Royal Society of St. George, branches of this organization have been established in all parts of the Empire, for the special purpose of cultivating a spirit of loyalty and patriotism among all members of the English race, wherever scattered throughout the world. Toasts will be proposed by prominent speakers, and a programme of music specially suited to the occasion will be rendered in the course of the evening.

CABLE TO BE READY WITHIN SIX WEEKS

New Telephone Connection With Vancouver Will Then Be Available

DIAL SYSTEM WORK ADVANCES

The cable and land lines from Victoria to Vancouver via Mayne Island, the final portion of the submarine work of which was laid a few days ago, will be available for service in about six weeks' time, according to Mr. James Hamilton, vice-president and general manager of the B.C. Telephone Company, who spoke in the city yesterday.

Mr. Hamilton looks to the culmination of nearly two years' work in planning for, and preparing for the new direct route, as well as the introduction of a number of new features into cable work in this section of the continent.

He expresses his satisfaction with the progress made on the new dial telephone installation at the Blanshard Street exchange, and the high quality of workmanship which is being done there, calculated to make the installation a model one on this Coast. It is expected to have the system working here by some time in September next.

AERIAL CAMERA AIDS SURVEYING

P.E. Official Tells of Use of Photography in Extensive Surveys Made of Railway Lands

Aerial photography in modern surveying has proven of inestimable value in mapping large areas of country, difficult of access, with rapidity and accuracy. It has so far come into use that in British Columbia alone more than 83,000 square miles were photographed last year. This was explained by Mr. N. C. Stewart, B.C.L.S., Pacific Great Eastern lands, in a recent lecture before the British Columbia section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Mr. Stewart reviewed the use of aerial photography in making radial line maps in connection with extensive surveys carried out last summer of Pacific Great Eastern Railway lands. These surveys covered 7,500 square miles in the northern Peace River block of the railway lands and larger areas in the southern districts.

NANAIMO COUNCIL TO EXTEND PARK

Report of Library Board Shows That Increasing Interest Is Taken in Their Work

NANAIMO, April 7.—The regular meeting of the City Council was held this evening with Mayor Hall presiding over a full attendance of aldermen.

The parks and properties committee recommended that three additional cabins be built in the auto park similar to the cabins already there. On motion, the recommendation was adopted. The finance committee submitted estimates for expenditures totaling $249,569.70 for the current year. On motion of Alderman Cavallary, seconded by Alderman Drake, the report of the finance committee was received and adopted. The public works superintendent reported expenditure on streets for the past week was $359.25 and on waterworks $281.01.

By permission of the council Mr. McCuckie, on behalf of the municipal library board, addressed them and in doing so spoke of the splendid work and progress made by the library board during the past year and also the current year. Mr. McCuckie stated that book circulation was a wide one in Nanaimo, and residents, he said, came as far as from Ladysmith for the local library books. He also presented the council with the report of last year's work. On motion of Alderman Barclay and Alderman Green, the report was received and the library committee thanked for the splendid work it has done.

Work Halted on Ripple Rock on Protest of City

VANCOUVER, April 7.—A strenuous objection to the cutting off of the pinnacle of Ripple Rock, in Seymour Narrows, which has been created by a party of Victoria citizens, is responsible for the Federal Government having decided to delay action, according to word received today by the Vancouver Chamber of Shipping from Hon. J. H. King.

The minister, who has been supporting the proposal, reported that the Government had decided to delay action until further examination had been made, because of a protest from Victoria against the removal of the rock, presented by Mr. D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria.

BACHELORS OF COMMERCE
There is a Chair of Commerce being established at the University of British Columbia. The glamour of vocational training with the prospect of a hall-mark diploma as the prize will doubtless prove highly attractive and it is conceivable that there will be a rush of students to enroll under the new banner, some desirous of getting away from the more stereotyped studies, others anxious to equip themselves for engaging in a business career. The movement is sponsored by some business men in Vancouver and has secured the blessing of the Provincial Government.

This question of a commercial course has hardly been given the thought necessary before the decision was reached to make it available in university training. A degree in commerce sounds attractive. The problem yet to be solved is how far it will equip the business man better than he is equipped today. It is possible now to obtain a Bachelor of Commerce degree at Edinburgh University and the principal of that institution believes that the experiment is proving successful. On the other hand, the Edinburgh Scotsman says that there are two fallacies in the belief that because education imparts knowledge and develops brain power it must necessarily produce higher efficiency in business. The first is that which connects education with scholastic education; the second, the assumption that the best scholar is the best business man. The Scotsman says that our forefathers, with very little scholastic education, showed great business acumen. Their brain power in business was just as great as if they had received a university education.

In business all life is a struggle. Success is a question of an active, acquisitive brain. "Heretical as it may seem," says the Scotsman, "the universities have much to answer for in added brains—They gang stirks and come out asses." The fact is that, as the Scotsman says, business requires aptitudes which a university neither cultivates nor tests. It implies personal initiative and enterprise of a high order, but academic education "simply because it leans on authority tends rather to depress initiative. Business success involves in many cases the taking of risks, and the student is not taught to take risks. The better student he is the more cautious probably he becomes in judgment, seeing all round the problem and letting action wait on thought."

There is another opinion on universities and business worth quoting, that of Lord Riddell, who also thinks that education of an advanced academic type tends to dull the initiative and to produce over-caution in action. He thinks that for a man who is intended for business to spend four or five years in a philosophic environment is not calculated to make him a success. Philosophy, says Lord Riddell, except so far as it enables one to bear losses with equanimity, is not a business asset. Very few big businesses in the world have been made by university men, but, as Lord Riddell points out, "by men who proceeded from things to ideas, whereas the university man proceeds from ideas to things."

The Chair of Commerce at the University of British Columbia is very much of an experiment. Until, if ever, it is proved a success expenditure should be held within reasonable bounds. If, in the business arena than in this quarter of the world, university training for business men is not regarded with any particular enthusiasm, it may prove even less a success here. Those now fostering the movement have the best motives, but not necessarily the best judgment that should decree such a departure in an infant institution like the University of British Columbia.

IS EDUCATION A SCIENCE?

A well known educator and philosopher has recently undertaken the task of outlining a programme for the development of a real science of education. It is an ambitious project and although the projector has had a brilliant and useful career in educational work and enjoys an even greater reputation in the world of philosophy, those who are acquainted with the history of educational theory and the efforts which have been made in the past to establish educational practice on a scientific basis are not likely to entertain extravagant hopes as to the result.

It should be noted, too, at the outset, that Professor John Dewey, who outlines the programme in question, has himself declared that progress towards the ideal of a science of education must inevitably prove a slow process. The programme as set forth in his essay deals with the sources of a science of education and the procedure to be followed in the cautious development of a body of scientific knowledge. He points out that in certain other disciplines, engineering and medicine, for example, there are systematic methods of inquiry which enable us to understand a given range of facts and to control them, not as a mere routine but as an intelligent and intelligible process. Engineering is an art which has borrowed freely from mathematics and physics. The healing art is indebted to the sciences of anatomy and physiology, and a systematic fabric of knowledge has been erected on the basis of these and other sciences. It seems natural that the educator should turn hopefully to psychology, sociology, biology and other fields in the belief that from these sources he may obtain material which should find an important place in the foundation and the superstructure of a valid science of education.

It is at this point, however, that extreme caution is necessary. The question arises, how is the educator to interpret and what use is he to make of a given fact of psychology or sociology, which on the surface seems relevant to the educational process? The temptation to borrow isolated facts, to justify this or that procedure in instruction or administration on the basis of small items of psychology or sociology, should be resisted. It will not be until enough has been gathered from authentic sources to form a coherent system that educational science can be established on a firm basis.

Professor Dewey is a convinced pragmatist. Postulates and hypotheses play a large part in that way of thinking and it is not surprising that he proposes to attack the problems which arise in educational practice by the pragmatic method of setting up hypotheses and trying them out by exhaustive tests. Educational science, he says, is in a tentative and inchoate state, which renders it especially in need of direction by "large and fruitful hypotheses." It is here that one realizes the supreme importance of a sound philosophy of education as distinct from the science; because it constitutes another of the sources which are to furnish inspiration and direction to the new educational "science."

What is the special service that the philosophy of education is to render to the science. It is used to be said that the former should determine the ends while the latter is concerned with the means. This, however, does not suit Professor Dewey. He prefers to leave the origination of educational ends to those who are actual workers in the educational field, and he assigns to the philosopher the task of providing the hypotheses of which educational science stands in need.
If the foregoing programme is the right one it is clear at the outset that the "science" has a long road to travel before it can be regarded as valid and authoritative. Anyone can evolve educational theories out of an inner consciousness, but it takes the rare genius of a Locke, a Popper or a Pestalozzi to formulate the "large and fruitful hypotheses" required. Moreover, the "verification" of an hypothesis is after all only to be regarded as a new starting point in educational progress.

LEARNING TO WAIT

Everybody knows that it is a bad thing for us to have everything we want, and even worse probably to get it easily. Grenfell of Labrador tells us somewhere that one of the things he and his brothers most eagerly wanted as children was a pony. Their father gave them, instead, a small allowance and opened banking accounts for them. The money they saved was called pony money, and he added to it from time to time. They thus had the excitement of helping the fund to grow and the eager looking forward to the time when they could buy the pony. In the end the animal came as a gift. Though Grenfell, the boy, doubtless thought his father had odd ideas Grenfell, the man, says he was very good and wise. It was, he says, a great idea to keep them waiting, for we all value the things obtained by thrift. There is not a little joy in having to save up something and then go forth, having won triumphantly through, to make the purchase. That may seem the ridiculous notion of a grown-up, but even grown-ups may be wise!

There is another advantage in learning to wait for things. We find in life lots of delays and postponements. Life is by no means always in as great a hurry to give us things as we are to receive them. We may imagine that the moment we leave school the world will step aside and make way for us. Usually it does not. We have to learn to labor and to wait. It is an asset to have learned it early. Great men have had to wait; year after year some of them were starved from the bread of appreciation. Wordsworth and Browning wrote for thirty years without earning enough to buy them porridge. They saw smaller men pass to the front and win earlier and easier rewards. Their day came at last. Once, when the crowd pressed about Browning with wild enthusiasm, someone asked him if he minded it. "Mind it?" he asked. "I like it; I have waited thirty years for it!"

Not to be able to wait may be a tragic handicap. The case of Bizet is a classical example. He had composed the famous opera "Carmen." It was his greatest work. Its poor reception broke Bizet's heart. Three years after his death Carmen was triumphantly produced in England. If only the composer had learned to wait, how much happier had been the issue. It is wiser not to grumble overmuch at those delays which gave us a chance of learning the great lesson that the good things of this world are ever and always worth the time of waiting.

IN ADMIRATION

How trustingly we humans talk
In terms of days to come, days to come,
Tomorrow this, next Summer that,
Ten years to pay a sum.
How charmingly we all ignore
Decrepitudes of age,
And though our candle gutters low,
Turn yet another page.

Note and Comment
By R. R. D.

The clock ticks onward to eternity.
Lazily as once the minutes drift away;
Here is the heart's desire—tranquillity
And peace of mind at close of day
Beside a fire that amoulters spark on hearth.
Throbbing like sudden music in the dark.
Have you ever sat by the fire in the evenings and listened to the ticking of the clock sitting on the mantelpiece or hanging in the corner? Spring has not yet succeeded in wresting herself from the chilly grip of Winter, and a cosy fire in the evening is quite a comfort to natural man, who enjoys the artificial warmth almost as much as a baby cat. As the clock ticks off the seconds and the minutes and the long records the accumulated seconds and minutes and reduces them to bigger units of time, have you ever thought of what is going on in this world of fleeting time and wondered what was going to happen next and what the upshot of everything that is happening will be?

And as you sit by the fire listening to the clock making notes of the passage of time, a thought may enter your mind that while time flies it is merely an abstraction and can never fly to the end of its tether and be brought up with a round turn. While time never changes, all other things which are subject to the influences of time are constantly changing. While time flies the world moves. Old ideas, which we once thought were permanent and as unchangeable as the stars in their courses, are being scrapped, like obsolete battleplans and armored cruisers.

So as we sit by the fire reading the paper and listening to the ticking of the clock and pondering over what men and women are saying and doing—talking about marriage and divorce, about scientific birth control, about crop control and orderly marketing, about limiting the hours and the days of labor and about making provision for those who either will not work or cannot find work to do, we cannot but think that time is in its flight, working wonders in the world, that the old order is indeed changing and giving place to the new.

But then we wonder what the world will be like when by adopting resolutions and passing laws for the artificial regulation of all things naturally we have created a new earth and killed all hope of Heaven as well as apprehensions of the Other Place. Is our civilization nearing the end of its tether? Is the British Empire, like the other empires which have gone before, about to split into its original fragments and become merely an interesting story to be told by historians?

The foregoing speculations simmered in our mind as we sat by the fire, listened to the ticking of the clock and read the following by John Dewey, to us an unknown philosopher:

I have not touched upon the more conspicuous phases of the contemporary scene—the relaxation of traditional moral codes, the frantic search for amusements, the combination of multiplication of law with free and easy law-breaking, the disintegration of the traditional household, the focus of civic order, the passing of the law of stable marriage, and so on. These instances of the flux in which individuals are loosened from the ties which once gave order and support to their lives are glaring, but they are so glaring that they are superficial symptoms of deeper disorder. Individuals are blindly groping their way through situations which they do not direct and which do not give them direction, because the beliefs and ideals that are uppermost in their minds are not relevant to the society in which they outwardly act and which constantly reacts upon them.

Individuals are at odds with actual conditions. This profound split is the cause of distraction and bewilderment.

The following contribution is in lighter vein and of greater local interest:—
"Has a Monkey Out a Soul?"
To "Jays of Visitation."

SOMETHING TO WRITE ABOUT
The letter in the paper
Each one is like a guiding star
Through mental fog and vapors;
The subjects range from pole to pole
In every direction.
From "Has a Monkey Out a Soul?"
To "Jays of Visitation."

Per there is something in us all,
Both frivolous and solemn,
That makes us fit to play the part
Of the correspondent column.
And if the editor prints our stuff,
We'll have a wordy battle,
Although we secretly know enough
To shake a baby's rattle.

Just now the problem's Rippe Rock
It's causing much vexation,
Some fear the rock's a timepiece black
To proper navigation.
To navigation it should be known,
But Mr. Williams wishes
They'd leave the dear old time stone
For barometer and fishes.

Because, he's positive, one day
A bridge will span the chasm
Therefore, to show the rock away
Would give him quite a jump.
Since it's a stepping stone that's been
On which the bridge will stand secure,
On which everyone has wanted
To step and see the view.

For it is well known it won't
It's all extremely doubtful,
Some people wish it others don't—
And, as the editor knows how Much easier problems face us now
That never raise a bother
For instance, we talk at how To make an extra dollar.
Upon this phantom bridge in vain
We have written to explain
But who has written to explain
Old Rippe Rock is not much use.
I have a sad misgiving,

PUBLIC SCHOOL HEADMASTERS TO VISIT CITY

Thirteen Principals of Prominent British Colleges to Arrive Here on April 27

PARTY TO REMAIN IN CITY TWO DAYS

Thirteen headmasters of prominent public schools, who are at present making a tour of Canada, will arrive in Victoria, on Sunday, April 27, and will leave again by the 1:45 p.m. boat for Vancouver the following day. Dr. Cyril Norwood, D. Litt., headmaster of Harrow, will not be among the party, which he left at Winnipeg.

On Monday a special luncheon at the Empress Hotel will be given to the visitors by the Canadian Club, in conjunction with the local branch of the National Council of Education. The headmasters have expressed a wish that there should be no formal luncheon on the Sunday, and the British Public Schools' Club is arranging facilities for golf, drives of recreation, and other forms of recreation.

The headmasters coming to Victoria will be: Mr. Frank Fletcher, M.A., Charterhouse; Mr. W. Hamilton, M.A., Charterhouse; Mr. G. W. Olive, M.A., Dunsyre; Mr. S. R. Gurner, M.C., M.A., Whitgift Grammar; Mr. J. Bell, M.A., St. Paul's; Mr. C. G. Turner, M.C., Marlborough; Mr. W. M. Gordon, M.A., Wrekin College; Rev. V. P. Nevill, O.B., M.A., Ampleforth College; Mr. G. Robertson, George Watson's College; Mr. J. Talbot, T.D., M.S., Haileybury; Mr. D. G. Miller, M.A., Manchester Grammar; Mr. H. L. Jack, M.A., Hill; Mr. A. B. Sackett, Kingswood School, Bath; Mr. F. B. Malin, M.A., Wellington. They will be accompanied by two honorary secretaries, Mr. H. H. Hemming, M.C., and Mr. Kenneth Lindsay.

VETERANS AND PENSIONERS

Many people have asked me what causes the great storm of pension activities throughout the Dominion of Canada today. Well, having been asked this question many times and by some of Victoria's prominent business men, I shall endeavor to reply in order that all concerned can get my version on the topic of the times. In the first place let us look back over the past year of 1929 and review the death list of Canadian pensioners who have passed on owing to war's cruel touches. I have not the exact figures of the total number that left us but I can say that approximately three thousand fell during the last year. Just consider that fact for a moment and you will see that three Great War battalions were washed out during that year. Just think of the line that they held in order that our great nation could thrive and establish sound governments to carry on the affairs of this country without being hampered by the tremendous debts that a victorious enemy would have bestowed upon it.

And then, one might ask what causes such a tremendous loss of man power? There was no war last year. There is only one rigid answer to this and that is war disabilities—those chronic disabilities that laden a man who was blown under fire.

And now we must define the outcome of a chronic disability. The average disabled veteran who is on pension is suffering some sort of a chronic disability; it may be called one thing or another, but there is no getting away from the fact that all Great War veterans are affected directly or indirectly by one or more of the big three—the heart, the kidneys and the nerves. If any one of these vital organs was injured in the heat of the war, ten or fifteen years ago, what have we got today? Well, the answer has been proved. We have a man, living, greatly advanced in his state of disability, for the life of these chronic aggravations run from fifteen to twenty and perhaps an existence is allowed to the twenty-fifth year. After that your chronic trouble is due to go but it takes its victim along with it. So we see that our disabilities are growing old and multiplying their detrimental powers against our living frames.

And with all these additional drawbacks against the strong and able bodies that we had going overseas we are gradually being worn down and are compelled to submit to the grip of the chronic monster. And that is how the pensioner is being drawn off the labor market. He is slowed up to the extent of his advanced disability. At the same time modernized industrial institutions are compelled to speed up in order to keep in the race of national and international business.

As we are living in one of the greatest standardizing countries of the world and efficient civilization will always tend to harmonize things for the betterment of all, we find that the healthy and the strong are putting forth every effort in order to assist their disabled brothers.

Never in the history of the Dominion of Canada has the parliamentary session at Ottawa been so taken up with pension questions—and the above tells the reason why.

OLD CENTRAL SCHOOL BOYS

Sir—I would like to say a word to the Central School boys who are here and elsewhere, that the executive and all other members of the organization are now properly organized to make our first reunion a gathering which will be held annually. For success we need your cooperation. First, we want you to register your name, address, first year of attendance and name of principal. The place of registering is in the Empire Food Company, 709 Yates Street, and there is no charge for signing the register, but if you wish to donate, any sum will be accepted. This is for the initial work of carrying on.

We have 500 now enrolled. Why not you? We want 2,000 more. We meet every Friday evening at the City Hall Council Room, and we want you there. The organization, so far, has decided to have a banquet and dance on Friday, May 23, at the Empress Hotel. On May 24 we are going to take part in the parade of the Victoria Day celebration just so strong that you will remember for some time who the Central School boys are. In the afternoon a reception will be held at the Central School, just to give you a chance to see where you spent your boyhood days, and perhaps some of your old teachers will be there to give you another good thrashing when you give them one, just to square old scores up.

We are having a metal badge so that your name can be printed on it, with a silk ribbon attached. This will be your means of introduction one to another, so if you see a face that seems familiar, introduce yourself. Next week we are starting an advertising campaign, so if you know of some schoolboy, or if you know a bit and get him to come over and sign up. It's just your co-operation that will make the Central School reunion what it should be, the strongest organization in the city, and then the idea is to further expand our scope of work and be a body that can, in a

TELEPHONE IN SAANICH MAY BE EXTENDED

Reeve Crouch Urges Linking Up of Colquitz and Gordon Head With Victoria Service

BREAD PRICES AND ROADS CONSIDERED

"In view of the forthcoming automatic system, there is no doubt about the desirability of getting Colquitz and Gordon Head linked up with the Victoria service," said Reeve Crouch, speaking upon the telephone situation in Saanich at last night's meeting of the Saanich Board of Trade.

Mr. Crouch pointed out that he had interviewed a number of authorities of the B. C. Telephone Company in Vancouver, and had found out that the directors were willing to consider the scheme in a favorable light, despite the fact that the B. C. Telephone Company would be the losers in such a move.

"I believe," said Reeve Crouch, "that the carrying out of this scheme would be an excellent thing for the municipality, and I also believe that it would be wholeheartedly supported by the Gordon Head fruit-growers."

A committee, composed of Mr. J. E. Sladen, Capt. Nat. Gray and Mr. F. F. Beckett, was formed to approach the Saanich council upon this matter.

TELEPHONE RESOLUTION

The resolution upon this matter, which was submitted to the board, read as follows:

"Whereas the Saanich Municipal Council has reviewed the situation with regard to telephone service in Saanich municipality, and aims to get the Victoria telephone service extended to meet the wishes of a large number of Saanich ratepayers who desire the extension of the Victoria service; and whereas the Saanich Municipal Council considers that the extension of the Victoria service on an equitable basis would, in every respect be in the best interests of the municipality;

"Be it therefore resolved that this Board of Trade heartily endorse the action of the Saanich Council, and asks that body to approach the B. C. Telephone Company, with a view to arriving at an amicable solution, whereby Victoria service may be extended to the municipality."

THE PRICE OF BREAD

The board considered a resolution, submitted by the Esquimalt Board of Trade, which had to do with the selling of a sixteen-ounce loaf of bread in Duncan for the price of 5 cents; and which pointed out that certain Victoria bakers were selling a loaf of the same size for 7 cents. The resolution stated that bread was a staple commodity, and should, be sold at as reasonable a price as possible.

A COMMITTEE WAS APPOINTED

A committee was appointed to meet the Esquimalt board, composed of Mr. H. A. Blakey, Mr. F. F. Beckett and Mr. J. E. Sladen.

B.C. RIGHT OF WAY

In answer to a question from Mr. F. F. Beckett, concerning the B.C. right of way, Reeve Crouch said that there was not a great deal of hope of much being accomplished in that direction this year. "When I was a candidate for re-election," he stated, "I said that I thought that there should be no reduction of the mill rate. When we were striking the mill rate, however, there seemed to be a feeling among the councilors of the outer wards that this reduction was entirely desirable. My own feeling was that we should have left the mill rate as it was, and have spent the surplus on the improvement of roads."

Obituary

DUNLOP—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Josephine Dunlop will take place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel this morning at 8:45 o'clock, proceeding to St. Andrew's Cathedral, where mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

ROSKAMP—There passed away on April 5 at 1471 Hamilton Road, Cornelius Christian Roskamp, aged forty-five years, and born in Victoria, B.C. The remains are reposing at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, from where the funeral will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. E. W. P. Carter will officiate. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

DAVIDSON—The remains of Ven. Archdeacon Gilbert Farquhar Davidson are reposing at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel until Thursday morning, when they will be conveyed to Christ Church Cathedral, where service will be conducted at 11:30 o'clock, after which the remains will be forwarded to Regina.

BOWE—The funeral of Samuel Rowe, who passed away last Friday evening at the family residence, 512 Macaulay Street, took place yesterday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Relatives and a large gathering of friends were present and the many beautiful flowers testified to the respect in which the late Mr. Rowe was held. Rev. Thomas Keyworth, assisted by Rev. W. J. Howard, officiated and the hymns sung were "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "Lead, Kindly Light," with Mrs. T. C. Phillips at the organ, and Rev. Thomas Keyworth and Mrs. Keyworth sang "When the Day of Love Is Over." The pallbearers were Messrs. R. W. Driner, W. C. Holt, J. G. Hilton, T. Bailey, A. B. Ford and A. Goodwin. The remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

NORTH COWICHAN SEEKS ACTION

New Classification for Portion of Cowichan Lake Road Within Municipality Requested

A request that the two and one-quarter miles of the Cowichan Lake Road within the municipal limits of North Cowichan be classified as a primary highway was made to Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Acting Minister of Public Works, yesterday by a delegation comprised of Reeve G. A. Tisdall, Mr. H. M. Ansell, municipal clerk, and Mr. Robert McIntyre, engineer.

The delegation recalled that this portion of the road was made a secondary highway in 1922. It was the only road giving access to the Cowichan Lake road, which is now a major logging operation; with a payroll of approximately $2,000,000 per annum, and is also a tourist centre. There were two large mills operating in the government area near the municipal boundary, which employs about 500 men, and the only road serving these mills was the Cowichan Lake Road. The Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway stopped passenger and freight service from Duncan to Cowichan Lake in 1927, and now all traffic traveled over the municipal road.

Fully 98 per cent of the traffic on the road originated outside of the municipal limits, it was pointed out, the road serving only fourteen families in the municipality, as against some thousands of people in the Government area. The delegation said the municipality spent the two and one-quarter miles of municipal road in 1927, 1928 and 1929 no less than $8,400 for hard surfacing. Mr. McKenzie assured the delegation that their representations would be given careful consideration, and would receive attention by Hon. N. B. Loughheed, Minister of Public Works, upon his return to the city.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR ARCHDEACON THURSDAY MORNING

Funeral services will be held at Christ Church Cathedral on Thursday morning, at 11:30 o'clock, for Ven. Gilbert Farquhar Davidson, Archdeacon of Regina, who succumbed at St. Joseph's Hospital on Saturday. The remains will reposit at the B.C. Funeral Chapel until Thursday at 11:15 o'clock, and after the services will be forwarded to Regina, en route to Ontario for interment. Mrs. Davidson, who arrived here Friday, will accompany the body East.

Shippers of B.C. Agree on Rates To Ship Lumber

SEATTLE, April 7.—British Columbia shippers today agreed to book lumber space for the remainder of April at $11, the Intercoastal Conference rate. Mr. Earl H. Strang, chairman of the Intercoastal Lumber Conference said the agreement probably would continue throughout May, although contracts for the $11 rate for that month have not been returned.

Mr. Strang was in Vancouver last week conferring with Canadian shippers in an effort to come to an agreement on a rate from the Pacific Northwest on lumber. The final negotiations were made in Seattle today.

Approximately 15,000,000 feet of lumber will be moved during the remainder of April, Mr. Strang said. The agreement of Canadian lumber shippers to the $11 rate, the chairman pointed out, will tend to stabilize the lumber market on the East Coast.

The Intercoastal Conference agreed on the $11 rate for Northwest United States shippers, but Canadian lumbermen were not represented. Steamers which carried lumber at a rate of from $1 to $2 lower were banned by the agreement, Mr. Strang pointed out.

EGYPT THREATENED BY LOCUST SWARMS

CAIRO, Egypt, April 7.—Egypt is seriously threatened by two armies of locusts advancing from the Sudan and Palestine respectively. It was reported today that the locusts have swarmed three feet deep on railway tracks in some places and that trains are being held up.

The Government has voted $50,000 to fight the menace.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and feel external deafness, or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the noise stop drowning into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with external deafness, or who has head noises, should give this preparation a trial.

CITY ASKED TO MAKE PARK AT CLOVER POINT

Grant by Dominion to City of Waterfront Strip From Cook St. to Clover Pt. Urged by I.O.D.E.

FINANCIAL AID IS ALSO SUGGESTED

In a letter read at the City Council last night and referred to the parks committee for report, it was strongly advocated by the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter of the I.O.D.E. that the city, if it has not already done so, should request the Dominion Government to transfer to the city for park purposes the strip of land between Dallas Road and the sea, extending from Cook Street to Clover Point. A grant from the Dominion for the purpose of assisting in the development of the proposed park should also be asked, it was suggested.

This tract of land was described in the letter as in its present condition one of the outstanding blot on the beauty of the city and a menace to motorists and pedestrians. Its possibilities, however, in connection with the view it affords across the strait, and its position between Beacon Hill Park and the sea, were unparalleled and almost limitless. It should be beautified by the city, and the shoreline should be developed.

The "James Douglas Promenade" or "Clover Point Park" were suggested as names for this area when thus remade.

Coroner's Jury Gives Noncommittal Verdict

A verdict of "found drowned" was returned by the coroner's jury at the inquest yesterday at the Sands Funeral Parlors, on the death of Herbert Bowden, aged fifty-three, whose body was found in shallow water in Ross Bay about 11 o'clock on Friday night.

Mrs. Bowden, at whose house Bowden had had lodgings, testified that he had come to her to pay his rent about 5 o'clock on Friday afternoon. He had said that he was "going to end it all," and she had told him not to say such things, and that she expected him for supper at 6 o'clock. When he failed to appear she and her son had searched the waterfront and found the deceased's car on a street near Ross Bay. She had then notified the police.

Constable F. T. Woodburn gave evidence that he had responded to the call and after a search had discovered the body of the deceased near the shore in Ross Bay. When he found it life was extinct.

FIRE HALL N. JAMES BAY TO BE REQUIRED

Chairman of Fire Warden Tells Council of Need—Oak Bay Agreement to Be Renewed

ADDITIONAL GRANT TO FRIENDLY AID

Renewal of the agreement with Oak Bay municipality for fire protection purposes was recommended by the fire warden in a report to the City Council presented at last night's meeting. The terms to be the same as at present, namely $8,000 to be paid by the municipality for the service, provided that it also makes a grant to the British Columbia Agricultural Association.

Two further recommendations in this connection were laid on the table; one that the fire warden should obtain an estimate of the probable cost of the service in the year 1931, and a second that any future payments made by Oak Bay should be set aside for the purpose of purchasing new equipment for the fire department.

Alderman Dewar, on behalf of the warden, pointed out that with the growth of traffic in the city, it became increasingly difficult to serve the whole of it from the present fire halls, and that one would be required in the James Bay district at an early date.

Alderman Mara drew attention to the increasing needs of Oak Bay. With the continued growth in number of buildings in that municipality, the time was in sight when it was certain to have to consider the formation of a fire department of its own. An appreciable increase in the rate asked by the city would have the effect of hastening that time.

In accord with a further recommendation from the fire warden, it was decided to increase the insurance carried by the department from a maximum of $40,000 to a maximum of $50,000, the additional premium being $100.

LIBRARY NEWS STAND
Mr. M. C. Robinson, Western superintendent of the Institute for the Blind, addressed the council eloquently in support of his request that they reconsider their recent decision not to grant a free site for a new story outside the city library. Later in the session, however, it was decided by a majority of the council that they could not see their way to grant the request.

Approval was given to a report of the finance committee proposing an extra grant of $500 to the Friendly Aid in addition to the usual monthly grant.

City Solicitor Pringle reported against a proposed amendment which would have the city by-law relating to arterial traffic so that it would not require fire department vehicles to stop before crossing such highway. "Apart from being a glaring case of discrimination," he said, "it would be encouraging the contravention of the common danger section of the provincial law."

INTERCHANGE TRACKS
A letter was received from the Board of Railway Commissioners enclosing a telegram from Mr. George L. Warren, secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, drawing the attention of the board to the failure of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railway to construct an interchange track and acting for action. The board having asked the city for a reply, it was decided to state that the city had already set aside a sum for the portion of the cost allotted to it.

Final passage was given to the Douglas Street tunnel by-law and a by-law for the purchase of property from Robert McDowall for the future widening of Fort Street via Thurogood and passed through its initial stages.

U.S. Secretary Says Conference Will Soon Close

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 7.—Joseph P. Cotton, acting Secretary of State, today said the delegates to the London Naval Conference were obviously making plans for a three-power pact in event they could not obtain a five-power pact, and that they realized the time was short for a five-power treaty.

The acting secretary, referred to the radio speech yesterday by Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson as a general guide to the present situation in London.

Mr. Cotton said tentative plans at present indicated the United States delegation would sail about Easter time for the United States.

City & District

Invited to Wedding—The Mayor and Aldermen have received from Hon. R. Randolph Bruce an invitation to attend the marriage of his niece Miss Mackenzie.

New Name for Streets—Jennie and McPherson Streets are together to form a single street, to be known as Raynor Avenue. It was decided by the City Council last night.

New C.P.R. Wharf—The Marine Department has asked for the assent of the city to the sale of the C.P.R. of water lots required for the building of a new wharf, forty feet wide, adjoining the present wharf on the side toward the outer harbor.

Leading Sportsman Here—Lieut. Col. Eric E. B. Holt-Wilson, C.M.G., D.S.O., known widely as a crack revolver shot, and vice-president of the Ski Club of Great Britain, is visiting here, registered at the Empress Hotel.

To Place Wreath—His Excellency the Governor-General will place a wreath on the Cenotaph, Parliament Square, at 12:40 p.m. today, under the auspices of the district council of the Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L. Officials of the local branches of the Legion are requested to be present.

Colwood Hotel Sale—The Colwood Hotel, situated at the junction of the Sooke Road and Island Highway, has been sold by Mrs. May Greeling to Mr. J. H. Greeling. The purchase price, provided that the Liquor Board approves of the transference of the beer licence. The amount of money to be paid, it is understood, is $30,000.

For Park Purposes—The city is to lease for park purposes from the Canadian Pacific Railway Lot 563A and part of Lot 566A. This land is situated in the vicinity of the British American Paint Company's plant, which the Canadian Pacific Railway will eventually require for its own purposes, but which in the meantime it will lease to the city for a rental of one dollar a year to the city.

Review of Session—A review of the proceedings of the recent session of the British Columbia Legislature will be given at a public meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. Mr. T. D. Pattullo, Leader of the Opposition, and Mr. George S. Pearson, Liberal, Nanaimo, will be the speakers. Mr. Pattullo will give a comprehensive outline of the province's financial standing, discussing the tax increases imposed by the present administration.

Trustees' Action Discussed—The executive of the Cedar Hill Parent-Teacher Association met last night in the Cedar Hill School and discussed the advisability of sending representatives to a general meeting of Saanich Parent-Teacher Associations, which it is proposed to hold later in the week at Lake Hill, when the action of the school trustees in not allowing the school children of the district to take part in the Victoria Musical-Festival is to be considered.

Births Exceed Deaths—The report for March of the medical health officer, presented to the city council last night, recorded the number of marriages during the month as twenty-eight, births as sixty-nine and deaths as fifty-eight. Of the births, sixty-four were white and five Asiatic. Of fifty milk samples tested, forty-five were "clean," two "fairly clean" and three "dirty." But in content in most cases ranged from 4 to 54, but in one case was only 2.8.

TORONTO FLYERS CHRISTEN SPEED RACING AIRPLANE

TORONTO, April 7.—A racing aeroplane, built during the winter months under supervision of local men, who have formed what is claimed to be the first aeroplanes racing organization in Canada, was christened over the week-end. The plane was named "The Red Elephant."

Members of the club are known as "The Red Elephants," and they plan to enter their race looking machine in every race of major importance during the summer months.

At the christening ceremonies the "Red Elephants" stated the aims of their organization will be to further speed flying and at the same time foster safe and sane aeroplane operation, with stunting rigidly barred.

The lady: So you are going to be my son-in-law?
The groom: I am not, I am only your son-in-law.

Made Secretary Of Congress to Come to Canada

OTTAWA, April 7.—Mr. S. J. Cook, chief of the mineral, metallurgical and chemical branch, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, has been selected as general secretary of the first time comes to Canada in 1932. Approval of Mr. Cook's promotion and transfer to the staff of the National Research Council has just been given by Hon. James Macdonald, Minister of Trade and Commerce and chairman of the sub-committee of the Privy Council on Scientific and Industrial Research.

Vancouver Must Cut Rates Down Or Break Limit

VANCOUVER, April 7.—If the City Council is to bring estimates for general expenditures within the legal mill rate allowed for purposes exclusive of schools, interest and sinking fund—fixed at twenty mills by the amended charter—a reduction of at least 6.23 mills, or $1,619,000, will have to be made.

This statement prefaces a letter handed to Mayor W. H. Malkin and aldermen this afternoon by the Associated Property Owners criticizing the present method of bringing down estimates. The system, it is declared, "is unsatisfactory, inasmuch as the estimates are over the legal limit." To correct this the suggestion is made that "estimates in their relation to the legal limit for general purposes should first be considered and revised by the departmental heads before submission to the City Council."

The letter emphasizes the necessity for a policy for rigid economy on behalf of civic authorities, and declares incidentally that the present time is "inopportune for the city in making expenditures, particularly by advancing generally the salaries of the civic staff when business interests are economizing."

EVERY SEAT SOLD FOR ROYAL SHOW

Farce Presented Attractively by Gordon McLeod English Players

Every seat in the Royal Victoria Theatre, it is understood, has been sold for the special benefit performance to be given tonight, at which their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon will be present.

On this occasion the Gordon McLeod English Players are presenting a three-act farce, "The Whole Town's Talking," by John Emeryson and Anita Loos, of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" fame. Although only a small audience was present last night, the laughter and applause were prodigious, and patrons must allow an additional half hour or so for the delay which this happy form of interruption will occasion with a full house. The Queen Alexandra Solarium is to benefit from a portion of the proceeds from tonight's seat sale.

"The Whole Town's Talking" comes with the brand of "London and New York success" upon it as a play. And the Gordon McLeod English Players give full measure of its hilarity. During their continuous week's run here, they have presented nothing more full of action. The setting of the play is the luxurious home of the wealthy Simmonds family. Henry Simmonds, rich manufacturer, his partner, Chester Binney, Letty Lythe, a motion-picture star, and Ethel Simmonds, Henry's daughter and Chester's fiancée, are the four principal characters in the story, which is replete with comedy. The parts are respectively carried by James McGrath, Letty Lythe, and Ethel Simmonds. Henry's daughter and Chester's fiancée, are the four principal characters in the story, which is replete with comedy.

McGrath and Mr. McLeod, as Simmonds and Binney, are a splendid team of conspirators. Their relationship is a cleverly-sustained piece of acting, for they have to be at one and the same time pledged friends and yet persistently at the breaking point with mutual irritation at the other's chumminess. Miss Christine seizes her opportunities admirably as the movie star with a jealous lover to promote on the one hand and a foolish forger to manoeuvre on the other, takes complete command of the stage for a hilarious ten minutes or so. Miss St. Barbe West was an excellent foil. Gordon Bailey in this comedy has another character part, which shows a new angle of his versatile ability, and Roland Gillett continues to be funny under a nonchalant exterior. Maude Blayney fills the part of Simmonds' wife and provokes several gusts of spontaneous laughter.

AUSTRALIA IS CONCERNED AT OTHER'S VIEW

Treasurer Explains That Recent Tariff Increases Only to Safeguard Nation's Interest

PREMIER PLEASED AT BRITISH PRESS

(Associated Press)
SYDNEY, Australia, April 7.—The Commonwealth Government is keenly concerned in the reaction of other countries to the recent drastic increase in tariffs and the prohibition of importation of a number of articles, taken as a temporary measure to alleviate Australia's economic ills.

Mr. E. G. Theodore, Commonwealth Treasurer, today declared there would be no justification for any retaliatory measures against Australia, because the tariff changes were not directed at any particular country but were forced upon the Commonwealth by economic circumstances.

Prime Minister James Scullin expressed gratification that influential newspapers of Great Britain, judging by cables reaching Australia, were taking the correct view of the Australian Government's action.

He added that the result of the South Australian State election of Saturday, which showed a definite swing towards the Labor party, might be taken as the first expression of Australian public opinion of the Commonwealth Government's policy.

CALLS CHILE ON TELEPHONE HERE

Mr. L. L. Thompson, ex-Attorney-General of the State of Washington, at 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning completed the first long distance call ever made from Canada to Santiago, Chile, and conversed for five minutes with Major John T. Quinn, manager of the Chile Telephone Company, Mrs. Quinn and Mrs. Genevieve Thompson.

From his room at the Dominion Hotel, Mr. Thompson was connected with a city far down on the west coast of South America, several weeks' steaming distance from Victoria. There was practically no noise on the line, and Mr. Thompson did not even have to raise his voice as is the case with communication from here to many Pacific Coast points.

The circuit was completed from here to New York, a railway distance of 3,193 miles, and from New York to Santiago by beam radio-telephone, an air distance of approximately 4,850 miles, giving a grand total of 8,043 miles.

LARGE ENTRY IN WALTZ CONTEST

Competition Brings Out 1,049 Competitions in Austrian Capital

(Copyright, 1929, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)
VIENNA, Austria, April 7.—Viennese thought that the waltz was being crowded out by American jazz, but a contest sponsored by the "Neues Wiener Journal," offering $300 for the best waltz, has brought out 1,049 new waltzes.

From these entries a jury composed of Hubert Marischka, musical director, the composer Franz Lehár, Emmerich Kalman and Oskar Straus and others will select the winner.

Viennese are agreeably surprised that waltzes are still being composed.

Valuable Work Done by Social Service League

"In the 373 families known to the Social Service League during the past year nearly every known problem has been brought to light. These problems have not all been solved, nor does the league take full credit for what has been accomplished, because good work can only be achieved by the closest co-operation of every specialized service in the community. This includes relief, nursing, health, medical, legal, child welfare, educational, hospital and institutions, employment bureau and church organizations, and to all these do we publicly express our sincerest appreciation and thanks."

The foregoing was read by Miss Olive Snyder, general secretary, at the annual meeting of the Social Service League held at the Empress Hotel, during the course of her full and most interesting report of the year's activities.

"There were 1,307 individuals who came under the care of the league and in connection with the work the following statistics will be of interest: Telephone interviews, 3,217; per cent needed service, but no financial assistance, 75; the majority of the remaining 20 per cent need only temporary assistance; for some of these $1,513.81 was collected from relatives and friends, so that the percentage needing public relief was less than 10 per cent."

The Sunshine Camp which was started last year at Saanichton had proved a great boon to mothers and children, many of whom had not had a holiday for years, and to whom those two happy weeks in restful surroundings came as the greatest blessing. It is the hope of the league that the camp shall be extended. During the three months the camp was in operation fifty-one adults and 160 children enjoyed the two weeks' holiday. The total maintenance cost was $1,450.77, or less than fifty cents per person.

PROBLEM CHILDREN

"Dr. W. A. Dobson, neuro-psychiatrist, of Vancouver, has again rendered most valuable service conducting a clinic for problem children, and doctors have used him in consultations continually, many patients returning for further help and being much benefited thereby. We cannot speak too highly for this specialized service that has been given so generously by Dr. Dobson."

W. H. Harrison, newly-elected treasurer, presented the detailed financial statement showing that the total receipts for the year, including a balance of $1,288.18 from the preceding year, amounted to $16,541.43, and the expenditures were $14,018.14. Mr. Landsberg appealed for further support in the work, particularly from the churches. "The churches started this work some years ago, and we are now nursing their baby, but we only get about 10 per cent of our funds from them," he pointed out, in asking for financial aid to secure the services of additional social workers and for the purchase of additional land for the extension of the camp at Saanichton.

Overseas League

A well-attended meeting of the Overseas League was held yesterday afternoon in Spencer's private dining room. Mr. Brodie gave the address. The speaker of the afternoon was Ven. Archdeacon Laycock, who gave a most interesting series of slides of the cathedral and churches of England, explaining in detail the various points of unusual interest in connection with each one. At the conclusion of his address he was accorded a very hearty vote of thanks. Madame Claudet delighted the members with two vocal solos.

Kumtiks Club

Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis, a member of the Kumtiks Club, gave a delightful and interesting account of her first impressions of the prairies at a luncheon meeting of the club yesterday. A daffodil tea will be held at the clubrooms on Saturday, April 26, and conveners were asked to meet at the clubrooms on Friday evening at 8 o'clock to complete arrangements. The Swimming Club will meet at the Crystal Garden on Friday at 8:30 o'clock, instead of at 7 o'clock, as formerly.

Native Daughters

The annual meeting of the Native Daughters of British Columbia will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Alexandra Club, Campbell Building. Election of officers for the ensuing year will take place and reports given by the retiring officers. As this is an important meeting, it is hoped that a full attendance of members will be recorded.

Fellowship Club

The Fellowship Club will hold its monthly card party at the home of Mrs. Christian Sivert, Denman Street, this evening at 8:30 o'clock, for the benefit of the two wards of the aged and infirm patients of the Royal Jubilee Hospital. There will be prizes and refreshments to be served.

St. Paul's Ladies Aid

The Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Victoria West, will hold a "daffodil tea" at 3 o'clock in the lecture hall of the church today. A special programme has been arranged.

Frances Willard W.C.T.U.

The regular monthly meeting of the Frances Willard branch of the W.C.T.U. will meet at the home of Mrs. Northam, 2644 Rose Street, on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

We never use that time-worn phrase, "Let's ride out in the car." Instead we say: "Let's squander gas or go where punctures are, or clip a tender off some car. And lighten up its load. Or honk our horn at passersby. And chase them off the road."

Clubs and Societies

Metropolitan Ladies' Aid

Metropolitan Ladies' Aid Society held its monthly meeting in the church parlors on Friday. A good attendance greeted the president, Mrs. E. O. Weston. After the usual opening exercises, minutes and correspondence, the treasurer's report was read and was most gratifying as a result of the play recently presented. The society has been requested to repeat it at St. Aidan's Church on April 22. A committee of seven ladies served supper to the members of the brotherhood at their monthly meeting April 1, when fifty-six men sat down to supper at 6:30 o'clock. A committee was appointed to purchase flowers for Easter and decorate the pulpit. Through the kindness of Mr. A. H. Adams the members will receive some lovely cut flowers, which will be an addition to what are purchased. It was decided to hold the May meeting one week later, on May 8, on account of the absence of the president in Vancouver. At the close of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Pettigrew, Mrs. Wescott and Mrs. Weston.

Typographical W. A.

A successful progressive five hundred party was given under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary (No. 85) to the Victoria Typographical Union on Saturday night, at the home of Mrs. F. A. Grif, 3223 Quadra Street. Thirteen tables were in play, the prize-winners being Mrs. A. E. Reif, ladies' first; Mrs. J. Benfield, ladies' second; Mr. H. Adams, gentlemen's first; Miss M. Reif (substitute), gentlemen's second; Miss Jean Drysdale and Mr. J. W. Watson, consolation. After refreshments, excellent vocal numbers were rendered by Mrs. Lefevre, Mrs. Baillie, Mr. S. Petch and Mr. B. Hunt; Mrs. A. E. Reif gave a humorous recitation, and Miss Ellen Chidlett a novelty dance. The company entered heartily into various novel entertainment features. The next party will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. Skett, on Saturday, May 3.

Canadian Daughters' League

The regular meeting of the Far West Assembly No. 30, Canadian Daughters' League, will be held in the New Thought Hall, 720 1/2 Street, on Thursday evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, at which time Mrs. H. L. Ross, of Vancouver, grand president of the league, will pay her official visit. At 9 o'clock there will be an open house, and many interested friends will be welcome. Mr. C. L. Harrison, president of the Alpine Club, will deliver a very interesting lecture, accompanied by lantern slides. Mrs. Ross will also address the meeting on the work of the Canadian Daughters. The assembly orchestra will be in attendance.

Ladies' Auxiliary

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion held its final drive and dance on Saturday in the Institute Hall. There were eleven tables for whist, and many more came in for the dance. The Morrison orchestra supplied the music. The prize winners were: Ladies' first, Mrs. I. Jarvis; consolation, Mrs. F. Thurborn; gentlemen's first, Mr. A. Taylor; consolation, Master H. Mart. The series of social events put on by the ladies of the auxiliary have proved most enjoyable.

Women's Institutes of Vancouver Island

SOOKE AND NORTH SOOKE

The monthly meeting of the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute was held in Sooke Hall on Friday afternoon, Mrs. H. Wood, president, in the chair. Fifteen members were present, and four visitors, among whom were Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, Superintendent of Institutes for British Columbia, and Mrs. J. D. Gordon, President of the Board of Directors of Provincial Institutes. Usual business routine included the financial report of the St. Patrick's dance, held in Sooke Hall, on March 15. A special vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. J. Willham for the cake donated for guessing contest, and all those who gave their assistance. A motion that the Institute give prize money to children displaying caterpillar rings, open to the Sooke, North Sooke, Otter Point, Shirley and John River Schools. A small sum was voted to the Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L. Mrs. R. Strong reported on the visit of the executive to a silver tea at Royal Oak, which proved interesting and enjoyable. Mrs. J. D. Gordon gave a talk on parliamentary procedure, and concluded her address by giving many useful instructions regarding the duties of officers in the Institute executive. Mrs. MacLachlan then spoke on sweet of health insurance and the Shepperd-Town Bill. The ladies were tendered a hearty vote of thanks and a social tea was served by Mesdames Cairns and G. H. Acreman. The secretary reported the doings of the classes of lamp shade making, which is being carried on each Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. K. Cairns. Many beautiful shades being created by the class of twenty attending.

LUXTON AND HAPPY VALLEY

There was a good attendance at the meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. M. G. McLeod on Thursday evening, with the president, Mrs. D. Welch, in the chair. Eight members had attended the social afternoon given by the Luxton Women's Institute, and twenty-six members and friends went to see the Gordon McLeod English Players in "Tell Me the Truth." The successful theatre party was organized by Mrs. Baxter, refreshments being enjoyed after the show. The committee of two which attended the meeting of the

Loan Exhibition to Be Opened Today

MRS. R. H. T. DRAKE
Regent of Genesee Chapter, I.O.O.F., under whose auspices the loan exhibition of antiques will be held this week. Her Excellency Lady Willoughby will open the exhibition at 4 o'clock at McLeod's Hall, Pandora Avenue.

Pretty Wedding Held

A large number of guests assembled Saturday evening at the K. of C. Hall for the wedding of Elsie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Bull, Manor House, Royal Oak, and Mr. Frank Leslie Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Webb, of 43 Burnside Road, Victoria. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hugh Nixon.

For the occasion the hall was decorated with spring flowers and streamers. An archway of spring flowers, from which was suspended a wedding bell, formed the setting for the bride party during the marriage service.

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride looked charming in a gown of shell-pink chiffon satin with embroidered veil of shell-pink net with a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of carnations, roses and maidenhair fern. Miss Bertha Campbell, who attended the bride, made a pretty maid of honor in a green georgette dress with hat in suite, and carried a shower bouquet of pink sweet peas and maidenhair fern.

The attendants, Mrs. Herbert Price and Miss Elsie Webb, wore frocks of pink silk taffeta and peach crepe back satin respectively, with mohair hats to match and carried bouquets of mauve sweet peas. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Fred Webb.

Mrs. J. Bull, mother of the bride, dressed in black crepe de Chine with white trimmings, and Mrs. F. C. Webb, mother of the groom, dressed in a blue silk crepe, received the many invited guests.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. J. A. Sanger, and during the signing of the register, Captain E. H. Sweeney sang "I Love You Truly." A buffet supper was served; the bride's table, which was decorated with spring flowers, was centred with a three-tier wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Webb left on a motor trip up Island, and on their return will make their home in Victoria.

Among the numerous presents was a silver tea service from the reeve and municipal staff of Saanich, where the bride has been employed; also a carving set from the Canadian Bakeries, Limited, and a mantle clock from the groom's fellow workers.

Women's Institutes of Vancouver Island

SOOKE AND NORTH SOOKE

The monthly meeting of the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute was held in Sooke Hall on Friday afternoon, Mrs. H. Wood, president, in the chair. Fifteen members were present, and four visitors, among whom were Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, Superintendent of Institutes for British Columbia, and Mrs. J. D. LUXTON AND HAPPY VALLEY

There was a good attendance at the meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. M. G. McLeod on Thursday evening, with the president, Mrs. D. Welch, in the chair. Eight members had attended the social afternoon given by the Luxton Women's Institute, and twenty-six members and friends went to see the Gordon McLeod English Players in "Tell Me the Truth." The successful theatre party was organized by Mrs. Baxter, refreshments being enjoyed after the show. The committee of two which attended the meeting of the Farmer's Institute, reported that a general meeting of the Farmers' Institute will be held on Tuesday evening in the Colwood Hall when arrangements for the Fall Fair would be discussed. Ten dollars was voted to the Luxton Hall fund. In reply to a request to have the baby clinic continued, Dr. Young wrote that the matter would receive consideration. A card party has been arranged for April 28, to be given at the home of Mrs. W. Heath. Mrs. McLeod gave an interesting demonstration of rug-making and was later assisted by Mrs. Richards in serving refreshments.

SHIRLEY

Owing to inclement weather, not as many members as usual were present at the monthly meeting of the Shirley Women's Institute, held at the schoolhouse on Friday afternoon. The president, Mrs. M. A. Clark, occupied the chair and only routine business was done; several letters being laid over for discussion at the next meeting. The sewing for the Solartium has been finished, the members having met at the home of Mrs. W. J. Milligan during the month for that purpose. Satisfaction was expressed at the increasing interest of the general public in the preservation of wild flowers, and that the law was being enforced against those who willfully destroy native shrubs along the highways. This Institute, as long ago as 1922, forwarded a resolution to the Minister of Agriculture to foster this movement for the benefit of future generations. Several members from Shirley W.I. are attending the lamp shade making lessons held each week. A card party will be held on April 22, at 8 p.m., at the schoolhouse, in aid of the funds of the institute. Antirrhinum seed from the Experimental Farm was distributed among the members at the conclusion of the meeting, and a letter of thanks will be sent for the gift. Mrs. E. H. Cross related some interesting facts regarding the meeting of the Federated Women's Institutes at Saskatoon last year, at which she was present.

Annual Linen Shower To Be Held for Home

The annual linen shower of the Protestant Orphan's Home will be held at the Home, Hillside Avenue, Thursday, from 3 to 6 o'clock. Articles urgently needed are: Single bed sheets, 40 and 42-inch pillow slips, bath and hand towels. Afternoon tea will be served by the Ladies' Committee.

"A girl is always anxious about her stockings," says a writer. And her stockings, too, are in a perpetual state of suspense.

rugged, warp-proof, durable

THE GENERAL ELECTRIC is the first and only refrigerator built entirely of steel. It is as strong as a safe. It cannot warp. Its doors and sills, fitted carefully by hand, cannot sag. It keeps cold in and heat out more effectively than any cabinet that has ever been sold. It maintains perfect health-guarding temperature with the smallest amount of current.

Just as an all-steel cabinet is superior to other types, so is the hermetically sealed mechanism of the General Electric in a class of its own. It is dust-proof and worry-free. Operation is extremely quiet. It never needs oiling.

An accessible freezing regulator makes it easy to speed up the freezing of ice cubes and desserts, whenever desired. Many other points of superiority will be obvious when you study the General Electric refrigerator yourself.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

Following a curved line is the quickest way to achieve beauty in the evening gown. The long, slim lines of the silhouette are relieved by curved seamings, or flounces which circle the gown in a spiral manner. Then there is the rounded decollete, which is often softened by a drape of a slight circular capelet. One Parisian couturier recently accented the curved line by using silk fringe about six inches wide on a lately created model. A gown that makes dainty recognition of this style trend is the one sketched above in a delicate ivory chiffon printed in a large floral design in multiple bright colors. Here the spiral seamings are outlined in narrow ruffles of the same fabric, and attention is drawn to the rounded decollete by a soft drape. It is a gown that is both naive and striking.

ToWed Premier's Daughter

COSTA RICA
WANTS CANALCONSTRUCTION OF NICARAGUA CANAL FAVORED IN AD-JOINING REPUBLICArea to Be Flooded Would Be of Little Value to AgricultureBy JUNIUS B. WOOD (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, April 7.—Costa Rica hopes that the United States will build the Nicaraguan Canal, whose proposed route forms part of her northern boundary and whose construction will require the little republic to cede a strip of its territory to the United States similar to the Canal Zone in Panama. President Cleto Gonzalez-Viquez of Costa Rica, thus summarized the views of his country in this regard in an interview with The Chicago Daily News correspondent.

"While the army and navy of the United States want to enlarge the Panama Canal, believing one canal easier to defend than two, commercial interests realize that the Nicaraguan waterway will bring the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States three or four days closer together than they are now," he continued.

"Costa Rica has no reason to oppose the canal; this country has always been interested in it and has always wanted it constructed. A dam in the San Juan River, a part of the project, will flood considerable of our territory, but this particular section is swampy, hardly populated and without created interests, and the amount of property damages to be indemnified could easily be determined.

"Ceding a portion of our territory to the United States is more complicated. Our constitution requires both a two-thirds vote of Congress and, later a popular convention to consider the subject, which must be approved by a majority vote. Other things in addition to the mere ceding of a strip of territory are no doubt involved, and until the details are known, it is impossible to say how Costa Rica would receive them. However, our country wants the canal built and is ready to assist the scheme in every way."

The presidential offices in what is probably the most democratic country of this age, are unique. They are located in the rear of a big, pale blue, frame building used by several other executive departments, with the entrance consisting of little glass-paneled swinging doors opening on a side street.

MODEST SUBURBAN DINGS

The leman at the door assured me that this is the President's office, and when I expressed a desire to see the chief executive, the officer pushed the button of the electric door bell. Another policeman stuck his head through the swinging doors, asked for my name and disappeared for a moment. As I stepped inside, an American college graduate, emerged from a side door.

You are Mr. Wood? he asked in fluent English, even to a name which is unpronounceable in Spanish.

"Have a seat, please," he invited, and I entered the little room, he disappearing into an adjoining room where half a dozen men were talking. Aside from the conventional high-backed seat and half a dozen chairs all upholstered in red plush, the room, with its high desk with a wicket-frosted glass top, resembled a cashier's office.

Without further announcement, a momentary lull came into the conversation and an erect, middle-aged man, with close-cropped, white moustache and chin beard, stepped into the room. This was so different from the usual routine of seeing the presidents of at least a dozen Latin American countries—stiff-necked sentries in front of the palace, a scintillating military aide leading this visitor down long corridors to wait in an elaborate rococo-decorated reception room, and finally a secretary ushering me into the presence of the great one, announcing my name in subdued tones—that when I arose and took his outstretched hand, I asked:

"Are you the President?"

"Yes," he replied, and the conversation continued in English.

"You have not been bothered by any policemen here, have you?" he asked, when I commented later on the presidential simplicity, which is typical of the republic's tranquility.

We do not waste time bothering strangers with questions about their religion, politics or matrimonial affairs, nor use detectives to watch them, as other countries do. All we require is that they behave themselves."

HAS NO ARMY

Incidentally, Costa Rica has no soldiers, not needing an army to preserve order within or to interfere with her neighbors. Its independent policy causes certain interests to misrepresent it as unfriendly to the United States, but on the occasion of former President Taft's death, the Government here ordered three days of national mourning.

"When Congress meets next month, the banana controversy will be settled satisfactorily," the President said, referring to the recent threat of the United Fruit Company, of Boston, to boycott the country if the export tax of five cents on every bunch of bananas goes into effect next year.

"The publicity efforts of the British Columbia Government are largely responsible for the growing demand for our bulbs," Mr. Dempster added. "From the Shelbourne Street farm we partially supply Vancouver, and have a lot of buyers in other parts of the province as well as in Alberta. They are mostly old customers and know our product. The bulb season commences in January, and since that time we have been very busy making shipments. As I stated before, we could sell more bulbs than we can produce; so can only say that business is good with us."

May Agree as to Construction of Kresge Building

An agreement may be arrived at under which construction of the Kresge building may proceed without opposition from Messrs. Christy, Hall & Company, Limited, owners of the adjoining Christy-Hall Building, alleged to be damaged by the work of excavation. This was intimated by counsel in Supreme Court chambers, yesterday, when argument was to be heard on an application made by the Christy-Hall Company to restrain the Kresge Company and Messrs. Smith Bros. & Wilson, contractors, from proceeding with construction pending the hearing of an action for damages.

The applicants allege that the work of excavation has been carried on without due precautions, has weakened the natural support of the wall of the Christy-Hall Building and has resulted in damage of a serious nature.

Mr. H. A. Maclean, K.C., counsel for the Christy-Hall Company, stated to the court that the plaintiffs had no desire to stop the work on the Kresge building further than was necessary in their own protection, and that there was prospect of an agreement in so far as was necessary to let the work go on. Assent to this was given by Mr. D. S. Tait, counsel for Smith Bros. & Wilson.

Mr. Justice Murphy then instructed counsel to put the agreement in the form of a written memorandum to be presented to him and adjourned further argument on the application until this morning.

GRANBY ADDS TO B.C. PROPERTIES

Deal Completed for Taking Over Okanagan Copper Claims—Resume at Powell Lake

(McCarthy, Ross & Co., Ltd.)

In addition to its various other properties in British Columbia, it is now reported that the Granby Consolidated has completed a deal for taking over the claims of the Okanagan Copper Mining Company, located on the west side of Okanagan Lake. During the past two years the company has spent considerable money in surface trenching and shallow tunneling. It is the intention of the Granby company to open up the property on a large scale during the coming year.

The Romana Copper Company reports that work has been resumed at their mine on Powell Lake, where a new tunnel has been commenced at the 500-foot level to reach the ore bodies encountered at eighty-five feet last summer.
Two shifts are at work.

MINE SAFETY TESTS ARE HELD

Vancouver Island and Coast Branch Indoor Meet Held at Cumberland

HON. W. A. MCKENZIE PRESENTS PRIZES

Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Provincial Minister of Mines, returned to his desk in the Parliament Buildings yesterday, after attending the big indoor meet of the Vancouver Island and Coast District Branch of the British Columbia Mine Safety Association, which was held in the Ho-Ho Hall at Cumberland, and was the biggest success in the history of the organization.

During the gathering Mr. Mc-Kenzie presented mine rescue certificates to Messrs. S. Lewis, J. Dick,
D. Frost, Colville Graham and N.
Hetherington.

A splendid demonstration of first aid work was given by nine teams from the Nanaimo district, two teams from the Comox Logging Company, and the remainder being composed of Cumberland teams which entered the competition. The boys and girls' juvenile teams gave very creditable performances, evincing keen interest in the training.

The Comox Logging Company's teams, participating in the contest for the first time, did very well and received congratulations from their fellow competitors and the officials.

MINISTER'S PRAISE

Hon. W. A. McKenzie, in presenting the prizes to the successful contestants, complimented the teams on the efficient showing they had made.
He assured them that the policy of the Department of Mines was to offer every possible encouragement in first aid training. He was greatly interested in the progress they were making in their work.

The minister was accompanied by Mr. Robert Dunn, Deputy Minister of Mines, and Mr. James Dickson, Chief Inspector of Mines for British Columbia.

Other prominent men connected with the mining industry who were present included Mr. E. Anderson, representative of a well-known firm of mine safety appliances; Mr. T. R.
Jackson and Mr. G. O'Brien, mining inspectors; Mr. J. Stewart, of the Government Mine Rescue Station,
Nanaimo; Lieut.-Col. Charles W.
Villiers, general manager of the Canadian Collieries and the Western Fuel Corporation, and Mr. Thomas

Graham, consulting engineer of these two latter companies.
Dr. G. K. MacNaughton, M.P.P.
for Comox, Dr. E. R. Hicks, Dr. O.
G. Ingham and Dr. Blissett, assisted by Messrs. A. J. Taylor, J. Barton and Dowling, officiated as judges of the competitions. Mr. W. H. Moore, of Nanaimo, secretary of the association, conducted the meet with the assistance of Cumberland officers in an able manner.

RESULTS OF TESTS

The results of the tests were as follows:
Five boys' event (juvenile), first prize won by Nanaimo with team composed of G. Emerick (capt.), R.
Dunn, A. Thorneycroft, R. Harvey and R. Ratcliffe.

Second prize won by Cumberland with team composed of B. Nicholas (capt.), S. Lawrence, G. Robertson,
W. MacNaughton and R. Brown.
Four teams entered this contest.

Five girls' event (juvenile), first prize won by Nanaimo with team composed of Helen Brown, M. Brown,
C. Moore, B. Davis and Guinness.

Second prize won by Nanaimo with team composed of D. Campbell, A.
Moore, N. Fraser, V. Fraser and Stobart. Four teams entered this contest.

Five ladies' event, first prize won by Cumberland with team composed of Mrs. Hudson (capt.), Mrs. Davis, Miss Westfield, Miss Litter and Mrs.
High.

Second prize won by Nanaimo with team composed of Mrs. B.
Thompson, Miss Carpenter, Miss F.
Archer, Miss J. Campbell and Miss
D. Campbell. Four teams entered this contest, and the president judge stated that the work of Mrs. Hudson's team was the best of the evening.

Five-man event (novice), for W.
A. MacKenzie Cup, won by Cumberland with team composed of J. Taylor (capt.), R. McGrath, E. Edwards,
G. I. Guy and T. Hobbs.

Second prize won by Camp 3, Comox Logging Co., with team composed of J. Robertson (capt.), J. Mc-Quinn, J. McLaughlin, E. Flinton and B. Churchill. Six teams entered this contest.

Five-man event (professional) won by Cumberland team composed of J. Quinn (capt.), J. D. Davis, H.
Waterfield, J. S. Brown and C. C.
Graham.

Second prize won by Nanaimo with team composed of J. Simpson (capt.), W. Thorpe, W. Bayley, P. Kemp and J. Broderick.

Three-man event won by Comox Logging Company team composed of J. McQuinn (capt.), E. Flinton and G. Robertson.

Second prize won by Comox Logging Company team composed of J.
Robertson (capt.), Pritchard and
S. Lawrence.

Dinner was served to the visitors following the contests, and dancing brought the function to a close.

age for this month is 2.88 inches.

Imperial Oil Company's Plant Is Progressing

PORT ALBERNI, April 7.—
George Blackmore has just completed towing the last load of gravel to the Imperial Oil Company's new plant, and construction of the cement piles and flooring for the tanks will be commenced at once. The plant is situated on the waterfront and is expected to cater to the trade of the coast shipping with oil and gas and to the fishing fleet.

PARISHIONERS HEAR ARCHDEACON

Colwood and Langford People Hear of Work in Outlying Parts of Columbia Diocese

COLWOOD, April 7.—Many parishioners of St. Matthew's Langford, and St. John's Colwood, attended the statement given by Archdeacon Laycock in St. John's Church on the Anglican Church work in the diocese.

Several lantern slides, depicting the churches, the Columbia Coast Mission boats, and the Rendezvous, were shown. The speaker explained the difficulties met with by the settlers in attending a place of worship and how the mission boat would call and pick up the settlers and service would be held on the mission boats.

The logging camp areas of Campbell River and Alert Bay, and hospital, and many other interesting and beautiful slides were shown.

TWO BARN ARE BURNED DOWN

Premises Are Destroyed at Little River, and at Union Bay

COURTENAY, April 7.—Fire completely destroyed the barn on Mr. Wilfred Smith's property at Little River during the recent wind storm. The blaze was probably caused by a spark from nearby burnings falling on the dry shakes of the roof. The large barn, which was of pioneer origin, was a mass of flames before it was observed to have taken fire. The Courtenay fire department responded to the call with the chemical fire-fighting equipment, but was unable to be of assistance except in preventing the spread of the fire. At about the same time Mr. F. G. Davis, of Union Bay, had the misfortune also to have his barn burned. Mr. W. B.
Crombie, fire-loss adjuster, of Victoria, was here on Saturday in connection with these losses.

GROUP METHOD

Many Attend Demonstration in Class Piano Teaching at Langford

LANGFORD, April 5.—The visitors and parents who attended the demonstration in class pianoforte teaching by the group method, given by Mrs. H. Simpson, with the assistance of Miss Ada Simpson and the two classes which were started a short time ago, were much impressed.

Work had been done with the children in ear training and voice training. While one of the class played a simple accompaniment the others sang. The tonic-sol-fa system was used to teach simple songs. The orchestra selections were heartily enjoyed. Howard Smedley was conductor of the older children's orchestra. Rex Jackson of the younger. Tom Dixon played a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Simpson.

At the close of the demonstration,
Rex Jackson presented Mrs. Simpson with a beautiful bouquet, and Mrs. H. A. Hincks proposed a vote of thanks to Mrs. Simpson and Miss Simpson.

Chemainus Elects Tennis Officials

CHEMAINUS, April 6.—On April 1 the Chemainus Community Tennis Club held its meeting to make arrangements for the coming season. There was a fairly good attendance, and the following officers were appointed: President, Mr. A.
E. P. Stubbs; secretary-treasurer,
Mr. R. B. Waldon; committee,
Messrs. T. McEwan and S. Jarrett.
It was decided to have a new wire put round the courts. Arrangements are under way to have the courts ready for play by May 4.

Address on Hymns

QUALICUM BEACH, April 7.—
The United Church of Qualicum Beach was crowded on Sunday evening when the Rev. C. Pinnemore took for his address the origin and interesting facts connected with the author and circumstances leading to the production of certain favorite hymns. The hymns selected were
"Just as I Am Without One Plea," "Nearer My God to Thee" (sung as solo by Mr. E. Sanders), "Onward, Christian Soldiers," "There Were Ninety and Nine That Safely Lay" and "Sun of My Soul, My Saviour Dear." The service was interesting and the singing and the singing was enjoyed by all present. Mrs. E.
Sanders presided at the organ.

Tennis Club Meets

COURTENAY, April 7.—Members of the Courtenay Tennis Club met on Friday night to make arrangements for the coming season. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, J. M. Mitchell; vice-president, H. Mansell; secretary-treasurer, Fred Duncan; executive, Miss Margaret Duncan, Miss Muriel Leighton, Pete McLaughlin, Messrs. Ben Hughes and Bill Dobson. Arrangements were made with Mr. Hughes for the use of the Punledge Arena tennis courts. Play will commence immediately.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE CONCERT ENJOYED

Annual Event of School Is Great Success—Mr. Bulley Gives Recital

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, April 7.—
The large gymnasium at the Shawnigan Lake School was crowded on Saturday afternoon when the annual concert took place previous to the Easter holidays. This concert has come to be an eagerly anticipated event, and the programme on Saturday was of the usual standard of excellence. For the first time the whole school was heard in chorus and their rendering of "Jerusalem" with orchestral accompaniment, was of fine volume and tone. The singing and instrumental selections were all of good quality and showed careful training and much appreciation was felt for the way the boys themselves played the accompaniments throughout.

In addition to the musical items, there were two exhibitions of physical exercises under Mr. Musgrave and Captain Palin, which showed splendid teamwork, neatness and precision.

After the guests had been entertained to tea in the main building, as many as possible repaired to the chapel, where Mr. S. Bulley, organist of Christ Church Cathedral, gave a short organ recital which was much enjoyed.

Following is the programme of the school concert:
Minuet (Fletcher). Nocturne
(Mendelssohn); orchestra.
Songs—"Picnic" (Bridge), "The Organ Man" (Schubert), "Is the Moon Third?" (C. Rosetti (Chapman)), "The Perry" (C. Rosetti (Ireland)); Form I.

Trio for three clarinets, melody (Schumann), R. Hyde, R. Cooke, J.
Lake.

Songs—"Mister John Blunt" (Traditional), Paul Edmonds; "Dawn Gentle Flower" (Barry Cornwall), Sterndale Bennett; "Jack Cook's Grey Mare" (Traditional), Thompson; Forms II and III.

Physical training, under Mr.
Musgrave.

Part songs—"A Wonderful Prophecy" (1804), (Buck); "A Madrigal of Spring" (Darley), (Fletcher); "Admirals All" (Newbold), (Markham Lee); Remove.

Trio for piano, violin and cello—
"Valse Russe, March Militaire" (Forsyth); M. Neel, R. Harcourt, D. de Brigny.

Part songs—"Hey Ho" (A Round), William Byrd; "Now is the Month of Mayings" (A Ballad), Thomas Morley; "I Know a Bank" (Shakespeare), Martin Shaw.

"Minuet" (Blake), (Perry), the school.

Rotary Club Officers

NANAIMO, April 7.—At a meeting of the Rotary Club the following officers were elected by acclamation for the ensuing year: President, J. F. Edge-Partington; vice-president, A. E. Pinner; secretary, Charles M. C. Ironsides; treasurer,
William W. Lewis.

NANAIMO, April 7.—William Harding Lowe, a native of Granham, Eng., passed away in the local hospital Saturday evening at the age of sixty-eight years. The late Mr. Lowe had been a resident of the province for the past twenty-five years, the last two of which he resided in Nanaimo. Besides his wife he is survived by one son, John. His remains repose in the D. J. Jenkins Limited parlour pending funeral arrangements.

PARTNERS IN A GREAT ENTERPRISE

Industry

"BECAUSE of the nature of Canada, with its vast arable lands and immense forests, Manufacturing, based on the products of forests and mines, must play a great part in the development of the country."

—R. J. HUTCHINGS, President C.M.A., at the 1929 convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce on "Canada's Economic Partnership."

The rapid strides made by Canadian industry have astonished the world. Primarily an agricultural country, Canada has progressed to a point where a quarter of her population depend on manufacturing for their existence. In 1880, the total value of annual industrial production was $222,000,000. Today with annual production at $4,425,000,000 and with constantly expanding industries, Canada stands on the threshold of a tremendous industrial future.

This astounding progress has been aided in large measure by the great banking system of the Dominion. The Bank of Toronto with its wide facilities of exchange, credits and general financing, has helped in the building of industries now of world-wide influence. Today, more than ever, this Bank is in a position to stimulate industry and forward the legitimate industrial development of the Dominion.

The First Charter

WITH Good Queen Anne on the throne, peace and prosperity were to be found in England during the early years of the eighteenth century. Up from the ashes of civil war, new institutions of society and business rose and flourished. In such an atmosphere it was but natural that the development of the protective institution of life insurance should receive a real impetus. In 1705 Queen Anne granted a charter for the establishment of The Amicable Society for Perpetual Insurance and so, in that year, we find opened in London, the first office to sell life insurance to the English public.

To-day, two centuries later, modern life insurance, as a recognized necessity, is affording protection to millions of people the world over.

In securing this protection, those who have selected The Dominion Life Assurance Company, consider themselves fortunate. The progressiveness and strength of the company, as well as its reputation for large profits and service to policyholders, are recognized as outstanding.

NEW KOL WILL OPEN TONIGHT

SEATTLE STATION RECENTLY PURCHASED BY KVI WILL MOVE

Will Carry Full Programme of Columbia Broadcasting System From 7 A.M. THRU 1 A.M.

Effective with the Paul Whiteman broadcast over the Columbia broadcasting network at 6 o'clock this evening, radio station KOL becomes the new KOL, it was announced last night by John Sparling, general manager of the new organization.

The controlling interest in KOL was purchased recently by radio station KVI and, with the new and greater station, will occupy the studios of KVI in the Northern Life Tower. To better serve Southwestern Washington and other sections of the Northwest, KVI will broadcast from the Tacoma Hotel in Tacoma.

The new KOL, with one of the largest station staffs on the Pacific Coast, will operate full time from 7 a.m. to 1 a.m., featuring the entire Columbia network programmes, the Don Lee Broadcasting Company programmes and local programmes to 1,000 watts and 1,270 kilocycles. Station KVI will remain on 780 kilocycles pending the decision of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia on the change over to the wavelength now occupied by another station and previously authorized by the Federal Radio Commission.

Immediately preceding the Paul Whiteman broadcast this evening's arrangements have been made for an elaborate dedication ceremony, with Paul Whiteman acting as master of ceremonies. The dedication programme will start at 5:45 p.m. and will last fifteen minutes.

Two Are Dead of Hurts Sustained As House Burns

(Canadian Press)
PORT ARTHUR, Ont., April 7.—Two persons are dead today as result of burns suffered in a fire at Berland, a village in the Rainy River area. Olaf Eastman and Ludwig Treflin are the victims. They were the only occupants of the general store and boarding house, which was razed by the flames, while other residents were absent at a dance.

THREE TRAPPERS LOST IN RIVER

Were Bringing Home Their Catch of Fur, But Fell Through Treacherous Ice

PEACE RIVER, Alta., April 7.—With the safe haven of the little outpost town of Peace River beckoning them back to their first taste of civilization after a winter's trapping, three trappers out of a party of six went to their deaths Friday afternoon, in the icy waters of the Peace, when two others narrowly escaped, in a struggle to reach shore, over treacherous ice.

The men, E. Bryant, Oscar Rummel and Cliff Klevit, with three others, William Kir, Andrew Jensen and Eric Simonsen, had spent the winter in the White Mud district, running trappers.

With the advent of Spring, the six trappers decided to head for Peace River over the ice, to dispose of their catch. They had dogs, so each man harnessed himself to a light sled on which he carried his work of furs, his blankets, grub and rifle.

Passing an island in the river a few miles north of the town of Peace River, Kir, Jensen and Simonsen, who formed the advance party, found the ice dangerous, owing to the depth of water in the channel.

The three decided to get to shore, and only their nearest to the bank, E. Bryant, succeeded in reaching the shore. While plunging through the rocking ice closer to shore, a second man went in up to the chin.

The men in a fire, dried themselves and awaited the coming of the trappers, Kir, Jensen and Simonsen, who were some distance behind and were taking the other side of the channel.

But the second party never came. Kir and his companions followed the river for some distance downstream, coming at last to a point where broken ice disclosed the tragedy that had overtaken their comrades, and which they themselves had barely escaped.

Worn out and exhausted, the survivors made their way to Peace River, where they reported the fatalities.

WILL ROOT OUT DEMONSTRATIONS BY STUDENTS

BY REGINALD SWEETLAND
(Copyright, 1929, by The Chinese Daily News Service)

SHANGHAI, China, April 7.—"The Nanking Government will not hesitate to have a few students shot and close some universities if students continue to create disturbances."

Such is the flat insult by General Chiang Kai-Shek on the eve of his departure from Nanking for the north, where he expects to organize his armies preparatory to the defensive warfare against the northern group of militarists.

General Chiang's firm attitude is the result of an attempt by Nanking University students to stage a demonstration over a labor dispute, nearly precipitating a riot at a British factory in Nanking's industrial area. The students also assembled in front of the British Consulate in Nanking, but were dispersed by the police.

General Chiang declares that the student unrest is of important political significance. Early military activity on the part of a "friendly ally" is also hinted at by General Chiang. This is construed here to mean the promised co-operation is forthcoming from the Manchurian Government, which is said to have pledged its support on a financial understanding.

"Baldness is often the badge of the successful business man," says a writer. It certainly means that he has come out on top.

A McKim Agency Publishes Directory

Twenty-Third Edition of Publication "Canadian Publications" Just Issued—Valuable Book

The McKim Advertising Agency has just issued the 23rd edition of its Directory of Canadian Publications.

This volume is very highly valued in the advertising and publishing world, as it contains the most recently available data on all the cities, towns and rural districts of Canada, their news distributors, whether Metropolitan Daily or Small Town Weekly—trade papers, agricultural papers, magazines and periodicals of all kinds. It gives a synopsis of what the advertiser, banker or business man needs to know of the population, resources and facilities of the various markets throughout Canada.

With offices across Canada and in London, England, A. McKim, Limited, is able to secure this information in a direct way that assures of its being authentic.

The Directory may be obtained from McKim offices at Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Calgary, Vancouver, Halifax, and London, England.

SOUND AUCTION and CONTRACT

by WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD
The World's Greatest Authority

"Free" Looking at the Board Often Disasters

Kindly started by West, West winning with the Queen, leads the two of Diamonds, which South wins with the King in Dummy and leads with the seven of Clubs, driving West's Ace. A third Diamond led by West drives South's Ace and establishes West's Queen and five, but all too late, as South now leads the five of Hearts to Dummy's Queen, which East wins with the Ace and for lack of a better shift, returns the three of Spades, South winning with the Jack and leading the two of Spades to Dummy's King, making the two good Clubs in Dummy, upon which he discards his two losing Spades, making the balance of the tricks.

Of course, West could have saved the game had he shifted to Spades instead of Diamonds after holding the first trick with the King of Clubs. This would have been perhaps the best shift rather than to his long worthless suit, with the K-J displayed in Dummy, but as the purpose of this deal was solely to talk about the danger of short high card leads, the actual result of the play is of little moment.

The above deal is interesting because the only way South can save the game is to lead the King of Clubs for West to open his King in preference to opening his fourth-best diamond from Q-4-3.

Defensive situation, in which the opening lead of a high honor to hold the trick until the Dummy Hand is disclosed, when holding three sure stoppers in the suit opened, are most unusual.

The fact that a preliminary opening of a high honor from three sure stoppers in Club can cost a game should be sufficient evidence to convince players that short high card openings with but two stoppers are usually inexcusable.

The following quotation from "Complete Auction Bridge" covers this situation:

"The blind opening of short suits to show one or more sure re-entries is, as a rule, losing policy, except possibly from A-K-Q or A-K-J. From less strength, the leading of a high honor, before opening long suit almost certainly gives up a re-entrance unnecessarily and at too great a cost to make the information to partner, worthwhile."

SALE POINTS OF THE BIDDING
Auction: South, with 2½ quick tricks and a 4-3-3-3 type of holding, opens the bidding with one No Trump, concluding the bidding.

Contract: In Contract, as in Auction, South opens the bidding with one No Trump, West passing. North, with distributed high card support for partners No Trump, increases the Contract to two No Trumps, which East passes. South carries to three No Trumps.

It may be noted that the bidding by North and South, while slightly venturesome, has as its basis the possession by both North and South of good intermediates to back up their first and second round high card suits.

THE PLAY
West, with three solid honors in Clubs, opens the King of that suit preliminary to a possible shift to another suit, depending upon the cards exposed in Dummy and partner's response to the suit opened.

The Dummy going down, South (Declarer) plays the two of Clubs from Dummy, East by three, and South the four, with five Clubs to the ten in Dummy. West shifts to his long suit, leading the three Diamonds. The Jack holding in Clubs, South leads the five of Clubs to continue the establishment of the Club suit in Dummy so

YOUR GROCER HAS SOMETHING NEW FOR YOU.

It is called "Ryvita Crispbread"—the stuff of life in a new form, so deliciously crisp, with a new goodness. Ryvita comes to your grocer—and to you—with each crumbly morsel packed with nourishment.

Ryvita—made from pure crushed whole-grain rye, supplies essential food elements that you need. Eaten as daily bread, you are invigorated, your mind is clear—in the young, bones grow bigger—teeth are made strong and sound. You keep fit. How quickly those appetizing slices slip down. A carton lasts no time in an enthusiastic Ryvita family. No matter what meal it is, some crumb will be found for including Ryvita—with cheese, jam or marmalade it is delicious. There are so many ways of enjoying this true daily bread. You'll find yourself investing in occasions for using Ryvita Crispbread often.

Ryvita is very easily digested and quickly assimilated; it helps you to digest and assimilate other foods. Its natural "roughage" cleanses away waste, so a condition of indigestion, (constipation, obesity and flatulence). Do you wonder that thousands upon thousands of people in many countries throughout the world eat Ryvita—and enjoy it as their daily bread. Let your family give it a try. You should eat a few slices of Ryvita with at least one meal each day. In a very short time you will feel at your best.

Ask your grocer for Ryvita Crispbread in 1 lb. and 4 lb. packets. You will always insist upon it by name. No imitation will satisfy you. Look for the green and yellow carton.

TO SHOW ISLAND TO CALIFORNIA

Pacific Coast Crusade Promotes To Be Finest Advertising Medium Yet Employed

Starting on April 13, the All-Pacific Coast Crusade, comprising a motor tour of British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and "Redwood Empire," followed by a six-day Southern Pacific train and motor coach, conducted tour of Central and Southern California, promises to be one of the most outstanding vehicles for "selling" the Northwest to California which has yet been employed.

The crusade, which is under the auspices of the Redwood Empire Association, has for its objectives the development of greater interchange of travel between the states and provinces of the Pacific Coast; the stimulation of greater tourist and vacationist travel in and throughout the Pacific Coast; provision for the obtaining of more accurate and complete first-hand knowledge of all Pacific Coast attractions and routes; the bringing about of a more intimate understanding between the leaders of Pacific Coast communities, and the provision of a more productive interchange of thoughts and ideas with respect to community and territorial advertising and tourist problems.

TO REPRESENT VICTORIA

It is hoped that four representatives from this city will be able to take part in the crusade. Mr. George I. Warren, at any rate, will travel as chairman of the British Columbia section; Mr. Stephen Jones will represent the local hotelmen, and it is probable that Mr. David Leeming, president of the Victoria Island Publicity Bureau, and Captain Metcalfe, of the Beach Hotel, will also be able to attend.

Burns Club to Meet

The Burns Club will hold its last meeting of the season this evening in the Amphion Hall in the form of a social. Election of officers for 1930-31 will take place. The dramatic circle of the club, under the direction of Mr. George Bryden, will present a Scottish humorous sketch, entitled "Christmas Courtship," which will be followed by a musical programme.

The Romantic Prince

By RAFAEL SABATINI

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance and Metropolitan Newspaper Service.)

The Burgundian lieutenant sat over the remains of a generous supper, savoring with his fool a jug of Rhenish that had been mulled and spiced. They occupied a cosy chamber adjacent to the great draughty hall of the Gravenhof. It was hung with Flemish tapestries, and lighted by a lamp suspended from the groined ceiling.

"I think," said the Governor, "that we have now rounded up all the game."

"This in allusion to the five arrests he had that day effected in Middleburg."

"And I think," he added, "that when these Middleburg traitors have been hanged there will be an end of plots against the government of the Duke of Highness, and we shall be able to take our ease."

"Amen!" said the fool. "Our case is what we desire above all else, whether the burghers hang or not."

"Oh, they will hang," the Governor had to bin.

"All five of them?" The tone implied a doubt.

"Why not? Whom would you exempt?"

"Myself, none; for I cannot imagine that any of them will be missed. But there's the evidence. It may give four of them to the hangman, I've a doubt of the fifth."

You mean Danvelt? There's his letter."

"He swears he can prove it isn't his. If he can, he goes back to his beautiful wife. Poor soul! I hope for her sake that he can't."

The Governor was considering. "He demands that I send a courier to his friend, Count Anthony of Guelthers. His friend, mark you. Well, that can't be done at present. The Count is with the army before Liege, and will have enough to engage him. He would resent any such message, even on behalf of his friend Danvelt."

A moment later a servant came to announce the arrival of Mistress Johanna.

Rhynsault ordered her to be admitted and rose to receive her. The fool, affecting to ignore her, took up his quilt.

"It is not my custom to receive suitors at so late an hour, madam," was Rhynsault's greeting, delivered, however, without gruffness.

"I am aware of it, my lord, and grateful for the concession."

He admired her pride of bearing, the self-command which enabled her to stand so completely to her own an inevitable anxiety. He preferred a chair, which she accepted gratefully.

"I had to brave it, my lord, in the hope of sparing my husband a night in gaol. I would have come earlier, but that I was assembling these documents. They should dispel all cause that you may think you have for keeping my husband a prisoner."

She proffered him a roll of parchment.

Still standing, he took them, frowning thoughtfully. "What are these?"

"Letters written by my husband."

"What have these letters to do with the matter?"

"I have brought them so you may compare the hands and the signs of the treacherous letter upon which you arrested him was not written by Philip."

"How do you know that, mistress? You haven't seen the letter upon which he was arrested."

"No; but I know that the writing cannot be the same because he never wrote any treasonable letters. He never engaged in any treason."

"Well, well," he said. "The letters shall be kept. I thank you for bringing them to me."

"As to that, my lord, it is I who shall thank you for making the comparison, and setting my husband at liberty."

"Let me warn you, mistress, not to place too much reliance upon this comparison. It may be, after all, that you have added evidence against him."

"There's a reason. I mean there actually is."

She smiled confidently as she shook her head.

"I am quite sure that I have not done that."

"You love this husband?" he asked her gently.

"He is my husband, sir." She was suddenly stiff and distant.

"That does not answer my question."

"There are questions, sir, that are never answered because they should never have been asked."

"You misunderstand me, madam." He stooped towards her a little. "I ask out of concern for you."

"That same concern should have assumed the answer. If you will make the comparison for which I have brought you the means, I shall be indeed grateful."

"Oh, the comparison! The comparison!" He was a little impatiently. "It shall be made. It shall be made in due season."

"In due season?" For the first time she seemed taken aback, and looked him fully in his handsome, florid face. "But why not now—at once?"

"There are inconveniences. You will not be important, mistress, when I tell you that it would distress me to deny you. This is a matter for my secretaries and for the court when it comes to sit in judgment."

"But if you can persuade yourself by these that no charge is possible against my husband, what need, then, for judgment? Could you not do it now, at once, so that my husband need not spend a night in gaol? It is to save him that I have labored."

The Governor was properly sympathetic. There were the forms of law which must be observed.

"Why, only today, sir," she reminded him, "you boasted in my house that you are, yourself, the law in Walcheren."

He nodded, smiling gently. "You are right to say I boasted. I was guilty of overstatement. I am no more than the mouthpiece of the law, the channel through which the law is dispensed. Have patience, madam. Believe me, I would do a deal, a very great deal, to serve you. But be merciful by not asking me to do that which is beyond my power. But I'll do what I can. Be sure of that." He was considering her over, and his eyes had lately narrowed a little. "Come, my dear, again tomorrow, madam. By then I may be able to be more definite. Seek me before I dine."

In dejection she thanked him and withdrew. When she had gone, he sank into his chair again, and filled himself a cup from the jug. In silence he sat considering the wine before he drank it. In silence he continued after he had drunk.

The fool, watching him covertly, at last broke in upon his brooding.

"Why so thoughtful? What's to think about? Isn't all plain?"

"Plain?" Rhynsault stared at him across the table with the dull eyes of a suddenly stupid man.

"A number of things concerning both Master Danvelt and Master Danvelt's widow in prospect."

Abruptly he changed the subject. "Have you ever observed that there is no loveliness to compare with loveliness in distress? I marvel that you escaped the appeal of it; that you could still be harsh with her. But I admire it in you. I admire it and commend it. Duty first: that is the motto of the Lord Claude de Rhynsault. The other things may follow."

"What other things?"

"The fruits of duty."

Rhynsault looked at him again. "What then?" he said.

"Why, what is temptation for? Certainly not a thing to be resisted. For what, after all, is temptation? The hawker of life's most alluring wares. And where are the advantages of being Ducal Governor, Burgundian Lieutenant in Zealand, Lord of Life and Death, Dispenser of the High Justice and the Low, if you may not help yourself to a burgher's wife now and again?"

"Pshaw!" said the Governor, and sat on bemused.

The fool rose and went to fetch his arch-lute from the table on which it had been placed.

"Here's advice for your case from the new song I've made." He thrummed a moment, and then delivered himself in a voice harsh as a raven's.

"Take all things that life may give: Love and wine and laughter. Live your fill while you may live, Scorn the life contemplative Of things that may come after, Ha, ha, ha, hereafter!"

Morg would have followed but Rhynsault silenced him. "Cease your hell-cat music!"

The fool went out, his face distorted by his silent laughter. That there was devilry ahead in the evening for the party, he knew Claude de Rhynsault, which was better than Claude de Rhynsault knew himself. He had done his best to apply a spur to that devilry, out of the sheer malice of his nature.

Headmasters of Great Britain Are Now in Canada

FREDERICTON, N.B., April 7.—New Brunswick yesterday tendered a reception to the British headmasters' party, opening a Dominion-wide tour. Bright sunny weather added to the enjoyment of the distinguished visitors, masters of noted Old Country public schools.

The party, headed by Dr. C. Norwood, head of Harrow School, and numbering sixteen individuals, received here their first public welcome to the Dominion.

They arrived from Saint John at noon on a special train and after being entertained left in the evening for Halifax, thence they will go to Montreal and across Canada.

Dr. Norwood declared the object of the visit was to ascertain facilities for university education in Canada for young men who have been graduated by the English public schools and the part they would be able to play in the industrial developments of Canada after receiving technical training by Dominion universities.
